JIM'S AND AMY'S BIG FLIGHT

Prince Rupert people will follow with more than usual interest the latest seemingly madcap adventure of Jim and Amy Mollison who are leaving England for a flight to New York, thence returning across the Atlantic Ocean, on to Bagdad and home again. They are essaying to fly 12,000 miles with only two stops enroute. It is going to be a big job and luck will have to smile on them again, as it has often done on both in the past, if they are to be successful and come safely through.

Incidentally, although each of them has a number of enviable individual long-distance flight records to their credit, this is the first spectacular air jaunt they have attempted together. They start out, at least, with the proven endurance and flying skill of both to help them along.

They announce that, if they make it this time, it is their intention to tempt fate no longer on such adventures but to settle down quietly like the rest of young married folk. And we would say that the accomplishment of such a feat as they are now essaying should be a fitting achievement with which to culminate their spectacular young aerial careers.

Good luck, Jim and Amy!

JIMMY MATTERN GETS ACROSS

Granted that aerial crossings of the Atlantic are a good deal more commonplace occurrences today than they were a few years ago when "Lucky" Lindbergh spanned the ocean non-stop from New York to Paris, due largely to the great development that has taken place in the aircraft field since that time, they are still rare enough to give the most of us a big thrill when a new one is safely accomplished. So it was yesterday with the news that Jimmy Mattern of Texas, another "lone eagle," had succeeded in getting across and had landed at Moscow three hours ahead of the Wiley Post-Harold Gatty record of a year or so ago in his attempt to set a new speed mark for circumnavigating the globe.

Mattern now has possibly the worst part of the entire project behind him and, if his luck holds, he should accomplish the task he has set for himself. He has less than five days now in which to fail or succeed. News of his progress will also be followed with interest although it may, possibly, not have the same local appeal here as may attach itself to the doings of the Mollisons.

SESSION OF COURT

One Case Stood Over For Hearing in September—Twelve Make Application For Naturalization

County Court was in regular monthly session yesterday before Judge W. E. Fisher. One civil case on the local list was stood over until the September court. An even dozen naturalization applications were dealt with.

The civil case is one in which the Canadian Lumber Yards Limited is suing H. R. Frost for $99.78. R. L. McLennan is acting as counsel for the plaintiff while Patmore & Fulton have the case for defendant.

Those making application for naturalization were Marius Lindseth, Hans Eriksen Hansen, Jacob Peder Strand, Regnold Erik Johannessen, Johan Olaf Hansen, Anders Forres, Anton Bernhard Strand, Carl Andreas Strand, Elias L. Zadorny, Nels Carlson, Anton Carlovich and Welimir Misich.

In the case of Dannhauer vs. Hogan et al from the Smithers registry an order for reference was given. The case of Pedro vs. Cook, also from the Smithers registry, was set for hearing June 20.

There will be no regular sittings of County Court in July and August, these months constituting the long court vacation.

Men who have "wed" their pipes to Ogden's Cut Plug will tell you that here indeed is something "to have and to hold".

Ogden's is such a likeable pipe tobacco! Such a friendly, companionable mate for any pipe, new or old! And why wouldn't it be? It's made that way... made to give a man the fullest measure of soothing, satisfying comfort from his pipe. And Ogden's quality never varies.

Local Board of Control Intends to Strictly Enforce Rules of Game

The Board of Control of the Prince Rupert Football Association, in a report presented to the Association, has intimated its intention of strictly enforcing all rules of the game on the local soccer field during the 1933 season. The report, incidentally, contains some timely advice to both players and teams in regard to conduct on the field of play.

Following are some excerpts from the report:

"The board wishes both teams and players to understand that a serious view will be taken of all infringements on the field of play this year, not with any intention of displaying its authority but merely to eliminate, if possible, any actions contrary to the rules and spirit of the game. We have a number of young players playing senior football now who have learned the game in Prince Rupert and who we would like to see develop along right lines. In fact the board feels that the Football Association has an obligation to discharge insofar as these young players are concerned and that is to protect them from themselves. They are now at the age when they can be made or marred and we intend to lend our best efforts towards making them and, to this end, we believe that they must be taught that deliberate fouling is not only unsportsmanlike but dangerous and particularly so in Prince Rupert where the nature of the playing field makes serious accidents not only possible but very probable.

"As previously stated the board has no desire to penalize either players or teams. In fact we would much prefer to see the game progress along lines that make it unnecessary for the board to convene as it is an unpleasant duty to take disciplinary action at any time but we are fully conscious of our duty towards the public, the football association, the referee, the teams and the players and intend to discharge it to the best of our ability.

"The board wishes to remind all concerned that the referee is in full control while on the field of play and his decisions and instructions must be observed and it is the intention of the board to assist him if all possible to keep the game under complete control at all times and with this end in view, solicit the co-operation of the captains and executives of the various teams, realizing that it anything of a questionable nature is allowed to develop the game will suffer as the general football supporter usually resents such tactics and withdraws his support."

TERRACE, June 6—The Dominion department of fisheries is making arrangements to restock Lakeise Lake with trout. While there are a good many fish in the lake, the intensive fishing of summer residents and tourists is having the effect of partially depleting the stock. Forty thousand cut-throat fry are to be liberated there.

The salmon fry hatched at the Lakelse Hatchery last year have just been liberated under favorable conditions.
