Omar the Tentmaker knew...

OMAR certainly knew the value of publicity—wherever his poetry was quoted, people spoke of his tents. Probably they were good tents—they might have been the best procurable—it is also quite likely that people from far-off villages came to buy from him, but—it was eight hundred years before all the world knew of him and his famous pre-prohibition slogan, "A loaf of bread, a jug of—" (pardon us). Eight hundred years after he died, we are all convinced that Omar made tents—not only that, but we have heard so much about them we are convinced they must have been GOOD tents. Were they obtainable today we would probably buy one. However, poor Omar has been gone nearly nine centuries.

● HIS ADVERTISING CAME TOO LATE TO DO HIM ANY GOOD

● Isn't it the way? Merchants who have anything to sell, decide to advertise and do so indiscriminately, without enquiring into the merits or demerits of the various media—the greatest mistake a merchandiser can make—and all for the want of five minutes' reasoning—for that is enough to convince any person that the best selling media are those which reach all of the desired market all of the time—THE DAILY NEWSPAPERS.
