Unique Dramatic Presentation At First Presbyterian Church

Evening service at First Presbyterian Church yesterday was of a very novel and impressive character, a colorful and unique Christmas pageant entitled "Why the Chimes Rang," in which a cast of twelve persons took part, being presented in place of the usual sermon. There were two scenes, one in a woodsman's hut on Christmas Eve years ago and the other in the interior of a great Cathedral. The bringing and presentation of gifts in honor of the Nativity was depicted, the cathedral scene being particularly colorful with special lighting and musical effects. The pageant was under the direction of the pastor, Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth, who, together with the cast, was the recipient of numerous congratulations upon the effectiveness of the novel presentation of the seasonal subject. The church was crowded. A repetition would, undoubtedly, be appreciated, many felt.

Those in the cast were Robert Davie, Bertie O'Neill, E. J. Smith, Sheila Stuart, S. J. Hunter, Bert Cameron, Florence Smith, J. A. Teng, Helen Lakie, George Mitchell and Maizie Macdonald.

Presentation Made Miss Cruikshank

Former Librarian Honored by Book Club Saturday Afternoon

A very pleasant gathering took place at the home of Mrs. D. McD. Hunter, Leeds Apartments, on Saturday afternoon when the members of the Book Club met to make a presentation of a travelling bag to Miss A. D. Cruikshank who leaves shortly for the east. Miss Cruikshank has been a most enthusiastic member of the club for many years and the members all feel that, with her departure, they are losing a valued friend.

DRAMA IS GRIPPING

Good Double Bill Presented at Capitol Theatre at First Of Week

Wall Street, high finance, romance and mother-love are blended in "You Can't Buy Everything," one of two feature pictures being presented at the first of this week in a double bill program at the Capitol Theatre here. May Robson, featured star, is shown as a money mad woman financier, battling against financial giants, toying with the fate of banks and other institutions and, between times, playing her part as a mother. Jilted by a young banker in her youth, the woman has two thoughts—to become the richest woman in the world and to get revenge. She finally has the chance, through stock manipulation, to wreck the lover of her youth, only to find that her son and the daughter of the banker are in love. In an intense dramatic scene, she learns that mother-love comes above the love of money and a gripping climax solves her problem. The action of the picture begins in the Nineties and extends down through the panic of 1907. Principal supporting parts are played by Lewis Stone, Jean Parker and William Bakewell.

"Romance in the Rain," the other end of the double bill, is a topical romantic and tuneful comedy. The story deals with a modern Cinderella who wins a contest and loses her heart to the man who gave her the opportunity but was blind to her charm. It is said to be a fast breezy, colorful and clean picture. Roger Pryor and Heather Angel head the cast.

Duncan P. Miller of the local Customs House staff returned to the city on the Princess Norah yesterday from a vacation trip south. He travelled from Vancouver to California by motor bus.
