Support of Roosevelt For

Move to Improve Silver Is

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 23:-Following his conference on Saturday with the silver senators, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was reported to be ready to compromise on the silver question. It was intimated that the chief executive might be willing to agree to mild legislation of a permissive rather than a mandatory nature with a view to improving the silver price situation. It is said, however, that he is not prepared to agree to the setting of a fixed ratio

It is now thought that the president may support the Dies silver bill in a revamped form with the elimination of inflationary clauses. The Dies Bill would provide for the exchange of domestic farm products of the United States for silver at twenty-five percent above the world market price. This plan, it is anticlpated, would have the effect of improving the market for agricultural products and at the same time raise the price of silver and, therefore, would be supported by both the farming and the silver interests

The Senate silver bloc decided today to demand enactment of the Dies Bill in its mandatory form despite the opposition of President Roosevelt.
