WHEAT GOES SKYROCKETING AS SMALL CROP FORECAST

Canadian Crops Are Damaged by Electrical Storm On Tuesday

UNITED STATES AGRICULTURAL REPORT PREDICTS LOWEST YIELD IN THIRTY-FIVE YEARS; QUOTATIONS IN WINNIPEG, VANCOUVER AND CHICAGO BOUND UP.

EDMONTON, July 11: (CP)—Whipped by cyclonic winds, electrical storms showered hail and heavy rain in wide sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan last night, causing severe damage to crops and property. W. D. Speechley, aged 27, of Lymburn, Alta., was killed by lightning on an Edmonton street and a companion, David Hepner, was injured.

WINNIPEG, July 11: (CP)—A United States crop report showing the smallest prospective yield in thirty-five years sent wheat futures up 6c to 6c today with the close at the top prices. Volume was the largest in weeks as traders yelled across the pit, executing fistfuls of purchasing orders.

BODY FOUND AT LINDUP

Upper Portion of Man Had Disappeared—Been Exposed For Year

The provincial police report the finding of the lower portion of a male body in the bush near Lindup. The body is believed to have been exposed to the elements for a year. The upper portion was missing but, after further search in the neighborhood, the skull was found. There was a small amount of money in the pockets of the clothes.

No person has been reported missing in that neighborhood.

With the thigh bones, pelvic and hip bones and skull now recovered, doctors are endeavoring to reconstruct the body with a view to establishing identity if possible.

The remains had evidently been mauled by animals. What appears to have been a note was found in a purse but it has been almost impossible to decipher it.

A knife had scratched on it the initials "M.P." or "W.D."

Clothing consisted of the remains of blue overalls, blue socks and grey sweater.

A tin also found nearby was labeled "gopherside," a strychnine poisoning.

Canada Due For Great Period Of Prosperity in Near Future, Col. Nicholls Tells Gyro Club

After describing how England, despite the handicaps of having no natural resources except that of coal which was of doubtful value, the necessity of importing three-quarters of the commodities which her people require to exist and huge national debt and large per capita taxation, was now seething with activity and enjoying an era of obvious prosperity which was showing itself in large building programs throughout the country, increasing of manufacturing plants, etc., Col. J. W. Nicholls, comptroller of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., in addressing the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon yesterday, declared that it appeared to be a certainty that Canada too was about to enter upon the greatest period of prosperity it had ever known. In spite of the extravagance in public affairs of the past few years and the foolish legislation that even yet was being written on the statute books by federal as well as provincial governments, it was perfectly logical that this era of prosperity was about to dawn for Canada and that it would probably come even sooner than many people might expect. Canada's great natural resources and her numerous products for export must prevail and it was inevitable that the rest of the world must pay tribute to her. Now, if ever, was the time to invest in Canada, to start new businesses here and to increase existing trading facilities.

Col. Nicholls, who returned to the city recently from a three and a half months' trip abroad in the course of which he travelled 20,000 miles and visited eight different countries, described some interesting incidents and impressions of his journey. Two months had been spent in England, one in London, the other in the south of England. He told his listeners of some of the points of interest he had visited including Westminster Abbey, the Houses of Parliament and Lords, Runnymede Island where King John had signed the Magna Charta and an international football final at Wembley Stadium as well as a cricket game at Devon in which the touring Australians had played.

On the Continent He also told of visiting Boulogne and Le Havre. The French, he thought, were unjustly accused of exploiting the American tourists by overcharging them. It possibly was not remembered that the value of French money had remained what it was four or five years ago while American money had depreciated.

Col. Nicholls also told of visiting Amsterdam, the city of canals, mentioning a visit to the Art Gallery there with its treasured Rembrandt and Van Dyk paintings of Continued on Page 2
