Interest in Week Of Prayer Shown

Attendance Increasing at Week's Religious Effort Here

The meeting last night in the First United Church gave evidence of an increasing interest being taken in the special Universal Week of Prayer services. It is hoped that each night will find a larger attendance.

In developing the subject "The World Message of Christianity," Rev. W. D. G. Hollingworth directed the attention of his listeners to the first missionary enterprise of the early church and then lifted their vision to view the people of the world today being brought together by inventions and discoveries. It was the hand of God making of this world a home. It must have a basis on which people could live in this home. It was in the message of Jesus that God was the Father and all people were his children. It was a duty and privilege to give to the world this message by teaching it and by living it.

The service tonight will be held in the Presbyterian Church. Dean Gibson will give the address.
