It Takes Time to Fit Shoes! Properly

We take pride in giving unlimited time to the needs of every patron. This is not a Spectacular store, not a "SALE" store where saving time is an important matter. When either the customer or the fitter is in a hurry, dissatisfaction is almost sure to arise. And when it comes to values, "how much can we give" is more important to us than "how much can we get."

ALAS, THE FARM!

A good many years ago, before the fateful day when Dr. S. F. Tolmie was chosen as the "win the war" candi- the opening of the season. The date for the federal constituency of Victoria, the writer Drydock has challenged the C.N. cup games. spent a Sunday at Braefoot Farm as the guest of the for- R.A. to a game Sunday afternoon mer Premier of British Columbia. It was a wonderful day has been accepted. The Dry Deck in spring or early summer and the Doctor was on hand to has several vancouver players who greet us there soon after ten o'clock. For an hour we were will show their stuff for the first | 0. shown over the farm buildings and the processes of win- time tomorrow and the contest is ter feeding and allied subjects were explained by our gen-likely to prove an interesting one. ial host. After a sumptuous lunch we set out with him to see the farm.

Dr. Tolmie knows his farm, his stock and everything The standing of teams to date in bye that grows. He knows how much milk each cow gives and the Prince Rupert Bridge League is why she is a good milker. He can explain the pedigree of as follows: any cow or calf or sheep or pig and tell why it is better than any other. He explains how the non-productive stock are weeded out and replaced not only by well bred stock but by such individual cattle, sheep or pigs as will pay the owner to keep them.

On the farm Dr. Tolmie was at home. He belonged there rather than in political life. He entertained us for several hours and enlarged our knowledge of farming, temporarily at any rate. He showed us experimental plots of alfalfa, some of which had been treated with inoculated soil from some other fertile plot, the untreated land being almost barren and the other bearing a large crop.

Now the farm is to be cut up into small holdings and sold to suburban gardeners. It seems a pity that the genial owner could not have stayed with the farm instead of being lured away to be buffeted on the wild seas of political life. The difficulties of the farm he knew but the wiles of the politicians he was not fitted by education or by nature to meet. He will now turn over the land to men who know little about it and its possibilities and in a few years it will be as ill-managed as was the provincial cabinet under the former premier. Many regretted to see the Doctor leave his farm for politics and they will regret just as much the passing of the farm into many amateur hands after a long period of scientific cultivation.

An Indian totem pole carved by Boy Scouts has been erected on the lawn of the Dominion Scout headquarters in Ottawa. The pole (above), which is 26 feet high, is a carved and colored replica of the design of totem poles used by a certain tribe of British Columbia Indians. Mr. A. P. Abolit, former member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, instructed the boys in the art of wood carving. Investigations were made at the Victoria Museum to find tribal symbols suitable for a Scout totem pole Patrol Leader Ted McDonald of the 14th (St. Andrew's) Troop, president of the Patrol Leaders' Association of Ottawa, is seen presenting Gerald H. Brown, deputy-minister of labor and honorary secretary of the Canadian General Council of the Bov Scouts' Association of Canada, with a minature of totem pole erected on lawn of Dominion headquarters.
