FUNCTION BY GUIDES

Mothers and Friends Attended Affair Last Evening

The members of the First Prince Rupert Guide Company, Capt. Muriel Brewerton, entertained their mothers and friends in the Cathedral Hall last evening. There was a good attendance and the program, arranged almost entirely by the Guides themselves, was well received. Rev. James B. Gibson was in the chair.

The program, which opened with the singing of "O Canada" and remarks by the chairman, included an entertainment by the members of the Poppy Patrol, a humorous dialogue by two members of the Sunflower Patrol and campfire songs and story by the Poppy Patrol and members of the Sunflower. This was followed by patrol races and march past by the entire company. Nona Hodgson was enrolled as a Guide and service stars were presented as follows:

Fourth year, Patrol Leader Honora Silversides.

Third year, Patrol Second Edna McLean.

Second year, Patrol Leaders Marjorie Silversides and Muriel Eby, Patrol Second Alma Dybhavn and Guides Geraldine Cade, Victoria Stamford, Catherine Baker, Joan Baker, Margaret Christison, Audrey Watkinson, Jean Watt, Nancy Bremner and Peggy Blackhall.

The patrol challenge cup was won by the Sunflower Patrol for the fourth consecutive year. Points were awarded for attendance, inspection, badge work, patrol games, etc. and the Sunflowers, with a total of 694, led the company by 47 points. The remaining two patrols came close to tying, the Poppy Patrol gaining 647 points and the Robin, 639.

Members of the winning patrol include Patrol Leader Honora Silversides, Patrol Second Edna McLean and Guides Geraldine Cade, Margaret Christison, Betty Wilkinson, Nona Hodgson and Kathleen O'Neill.

In the absence of Mrs. R. L. McIntosh, the president of the Guide Association, Mrs. E. Anderson made the presentations.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served by the Guides.

WHIFFLETS

From the Waterfront

The Alaska Southern Airways Lockheed-Vega seaplane Chicaghoff, piloted by Bob Ellis, arrived here at 9:10 this morning from Ketchikan to meet and take north Nick Bez, prominent Juneau cannery operator and president of the Alaska Southern Airways, who arrived on the Prince George this afternoon from Seattle. The plane left right after the arrival of the steamer on its return to Alaska. One of the members of the crew of the plane was Junior Stepp, son of M. L. Stepp, former United States customs officer here, who is now located at Ketchikan. He met a number of his young friends here.

The charter yacht Nooya, belonging to Campbell Church of Seattle and commanded by Capt. Moran, arrived in port this morning from Seattle to await the arrival from here of a party of Americans from the east who will make a cruise of Alaska waters on the vessel. Campbell Church, owner of the Nooya as well as other Seattle charter yachts including the Westward and Caroline, is at present in Alaska himself aboard the big steam yacht Hussar.

With a good sized list of passengers, C. N. R. steamer Prince George, Capt. Neil McLean, arrived in port at 1 o'clock this afternoon from Vancouver, Powell River and Ocean Falls and will sail at 4 p.m. for Anyox and Stewart whence she will return here tomorrow evening southbound.

Mrs. Percy Carr, widow of Provincial Constable Percy Carr of Merritt, who has been murdered by Indians in the Nicola Valley, formerly taught school in Burns Lake, having been, before marriage, Miss Margaret Pollock. The murdered officer was at one time stationed at Burns Lake.

TRIBUTE IS PAID

community but the best wishes of their host of friends for health, good luck and prosperity would follow them.

City Commissioner Alder also added his tribute to Col. McMordie. He had given valuable service to the community. Monuments in the way of street construction would be a permanent reminder of the part he had played in the building up of the city. An important accomplishment by Col. McMordie on behalf of this city, the commissioner said, had been his successful engineering of the negotiations which had brought the Power Corporation of Canada into Prince Rupert with its investment of $2,500,000 at a time when it had been so welcome. Both Col. McMordie and his charming wife would be indeed missed in Prince Rupert.

Following the presentation to Col. McMordie, there were musical honors with the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and the giving of hearty cheers for the parting guest.

Col. McMordie Replies

Obviously touched by the tributes which had been paid, Col. McMordie was then called upon by the chairman to respond. He had never expected that he would be tendered a public banquet, declared the colonel, but on top of that to be given such a handsome present, was an honor which was as surprising to him as it was undeserved. He wished to sincerely thank his friends for the honor they had done him and for the tributes which had been expressed. In leaving Prince Rupert, Col. McMordie remarked, it was true he was going to a distinct promotion. At that, however, this had been his home for more than twenty-five years and it was here that he was leaving his real friends. It was, therefore, a matter of deep regret for him to be departing.

After outlining in a reminiscent vein his association with this community since its very early days when he had come here from Ontario, a young contractor full of youthful exuberance and enthusiasm, Col. McMordie declared that he still had unbounded confidence in the future of this city. True the community had had its vicissitudes, possibly it had had more misfortunes and disappointments than any other growing city in Western Canada. Yet it had great resources and potentialities and it was reasonable to expect that some day, possibly in the not far distant future, there would be a city here of from 25,000 to 75,000 people. The coming of the Power Corporation of Canada must eventually mean development here. The colonel urged his listeners not to expect things to come to Prince Rupert that would do better elsewhere. This port was eminently suited, however, for such industries as pulp and paper manufacture which would undoubtedly, be located here when capital for investment purposes once again began to flow.

The gathering, which opened with the singing of "O Canada," closed with the National Anthem. John B. Davey presided at the piano.

Those present were: John Dybhavn, C. H. Orme, Reid McLennan, T. H. Johnson, C. V. Evitt, W. J. Alder, H. F. Pullen, W. Watts, L. W. Patmore, D. J. Matheson, C. G. Minns, E. C. Jones, Stan Smith, G. SPORT CHAT

Although successful in defeating the Moose 8 to 6, the Elks were not up to their usual form in this Monday night's City Softball League fixture. The Moose started off just as if they intended to take the game but slowed up considerably toward the end. The Moose made one run in the first stanza but the Elk's, in their half scored two to take the lead. The Moose went on top again with two in the third, adding another in the fourth, but the Elks were up and at it to score four times in the fourth after which they were not topped again, although the Moose threatened again in the sixth by scoring two more. Johnson and Budinich used the bat to advantage for the Elks while Postullo and J. Armstrong were the heavy hitters for the Moose. Murray, at second, and Hunter, in the field, played sterling ball for the latter.
