DILLINGER'S FATE

John Dillinger was a bold, bad man but he was clever and his cleverness made him something of a hero with those who sympathize with the breakers of the law. Even among those who are glad to see his end he was admired for his backbone and natural sagacity.

The end of such a man was bound to come tragically sooner or later. He was an outlaw on the face of the earth and only in a crowded city where gangdom thrives could he hope to be concealed. Even there his presence became known but it took fifteen men to get him. Happily he was killed instantly and the world is spared the publicity which would have followed his trial if he had been taken.

THE HEAT WAVE

In the east a heat wave has been making life uncomfortable. People have been dying, crops have been drying up and cattle have been destroyed. While this was going on last week the Pacific Coast was unpleasantly cool. Let us be thankful for the cool weather. While sunshine is desirable, too much of it is worse than too little.

MUTUAL HELP

The people of Stewart and Hyder on either side of the boundary line on Portland Canal live on very friendly terms with each other. They visit a good deal and help each other whenever possible. Sunday afternoon when there was a fire at Hyder the people of Stewart rushed over to help get it under control. All worked as if it were to save their own town. This is a splendid spirit and indicates that the people of the mining towns are made of the right kind of stuff.

WHAT IS UNION GOVERNMENT?

Says the Victoria Times:
"After emphasizing the danger of minority governments and contending that the Pattullo government is in that class, The Vancouver Province illogically demands that the provincial ministry act like a union government. By the way, how do union governments act, anyway? Like the one in France which is now collapsing after several hectic months of life? Or the one in Great Britain, which is nine-tenths Tory? We suspect that what our contemporary really wants is that the Pattullo administration act like a Tory government. It is difficult to believe that it wants any C. C. F. policies, yet how could the provincial government act like a union government without incorporating into its program at least a proportion of the recommendations of a group which represents the second largest element of the provincial electorate?"

Urges League Fight Prices

South African National Council of Women Told Situation Scandal

CAPE TOWN, S.A., July 24: (CP)—Strong language about the cost of living in South Africa was used by Professor W. H. Hutt in an address to the National Council of Women. He described the price of bread, butter, milk and other necessities in the Union as "one of the biggest scandals of the present age" and accused ministers of "betraying the consumers' cause."

What was wanted, the professor urged, was a live consumers' league which would strictly avoid any form of alliance with any political party. He said he did not propose to discuss the facts or the significance of the many discrepancies between international prices and prices within the Union. He assumed that his listeners were all convinced that there was a strong prima facie case against a situation which resulted in the prices of necessities within the Union being so much higher than world prices.

VICTORIA, July 24:—The Canadian Commonwealth Federation will hold a two weeks' summer school at Fulford Harbor, Salt Spring Island, starting July 30.

also a cruiser from the U. S. Navy. Many visitors from all parts of the north are expected to be here including delegates to the Board of Trade convention of Central British Columbia which will also be held that week. It is planned to make it the greatest celebration that has ever been held in Prince Rupert.

On the opening night, August 21, there will be a flower show in the Exhibition Hall and an entertainment including selections by the Kincolth Jubilee Orchestra. This orchestra has been training under a competent instructor for the past two years and is to make its debut here. James Stewart is the conductor and Charles Nelson, the pianist, is a graduate with first class honors of the Toronto Conservatory of Music.

It has been suggested that there might be competition at the flower show between the different sections of the city. Each has its competent representatives and the rivalry would prove a great stimulus to flower growers to exhibit their products.

The Home Gas Optimists are to be in the city for three days and will give a two-hour vaudeville entertainment each evening. They have often been heard over the air but the programs they would give here would be quite different.

There will be a dance each evening at the Exhibition Hall following the entertainments and the usual carnival attractions. All organizations are being asked to fall in line and help carry out the plans of the Fair Board.

MOOSE LOSE SOFTBALL

Junior Elks Takt Moose by Score of 13 to 5 in Ragged Game

In a game noticeable for its plentitude of errors and lack of earned runs the Junior Elks defeated the Moose softballers by a score of 13 to 5.

Although the Young Elks hit fairly consistently there was no need for the heavy difference in the score. Costly infield errors on the part of the Moose infielding staff was the main cause of the big Junior Elks' score. Their general inability to field a ball without fumbling or booting it gave the Junior Lodgemen ample opportunity to amass the big score they won by.

The winners harvested nine hits off Orme Stewart, Moose moundsman while their pitcher allowed five bingles, one of them, knocked by McFee, being a triple.

F. Comadina, new Junior Elk second sacker made a neat and opportune one-handed catch in the sixth retiring the side with Moosemen occupying second and third.

Score by innings:
Moose 1 0 0 0 1 1 0 2 0—5
Jr. Elks 0 1 3 2 3 2 0 2 x—13
Batteries: Stewart and McFee; Lindsay and Campbell.

Umpires, Gurvich and Stalker.

Ladies' League

In a fast game marred by several "blow-up" innings on the part of the losers the Annette Girls downed the Grotto Girls by a score of 14 to 3.

The Tigerettes played bang-up ball all the way through while the usually formidable Grotto Ladies played the "blow-up" variety. The second and sixth innings were the ones in which the Laides' Wear Girls gained the most of their runs, their sluggers connecting consistently while the Grotto Girls made misplay after misplay.

Little Babs Beale, whose short stature is the bane of many a chucker, made a sensational running catch of a high ball which elicited quite a spontaneous applause from the fans.

Batteries: Grotto, Gulick and Smith; Annette, Skattebol and Basso-Bert.

Umpires, F. and R. Morrison.

RAIN ENDED TEST CRICKET

Australia Lost Opportunity to Win Big Victory Over England But Will Play Again

LEEDS, Eng., July 24:—Rain washed victory out of the grasp of the Australians today and the fourth test cricket match was abandoned. The rubber will be decided by the last match of the series commencing August 19 which will be played to a finish.

When rain halted the play, England had added 229 runs for six wickets to the first innings score of 206, a deficit of 155 runs, in view of Australia's 584. The Australians needed only the four wickets to win by a full innings and wanted to continue play for a couple of hours before the close but were overruled by the umpires.

Women Opposing Betting on Dogs

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, July 24: (CP)—Deprecating arguments of promoters of greyhound racing as attempts "to gain popular sympathy under the guise of charity" the National Council of Women has passed a resolution opposing introduction of a government measure to legalize betting on dog racing.

Many members of the council hastened to express the opinion that horse racing was no less harmful and wished to condemn both in the same breath. As the proposed legalization of betting on greyhounds was under discussion, they were ruled out of order.

R. W. Sinclair of Inverness came into the city this morning on his speed boat.

SPORT CHAT

One of the strange aspects of Canada's British Empire Games team is the number of famous figures it leaves behind. It is a strong team in most departments because it required no little gusto behind the shoves that kept several noted athletes out of the group. Two "sure bets" remain in Canada—Hilda Strike, the Montreal sprinter and Jackie Callura, Hamilton's mighty bantamweight boxer. They were both on the last Olympic team and the two years since 1932 were thought to have developed them into even better performers.

Miss Strike was the fourth of Canada's sprint queens. She came on the scene in the summer of 1932 to take up the speed sceptre held in turn by Rosa Cross, Bobby Rosenfeld and Myrtle Cook. And for two years she played second fiddle only to Poland's Stella Walsh, slender and pretty, the Montreal girl was the real queen of the Canadian track and most critics allowed she would rule the Empire sprint world before this summer was over. Hilda lost just enough drive in two years to make this out of the question.

Three youngsters who were juniors in 1932 came along at London, Ont., and finished one-two-three in the 100 yards final. Miss Strike hadn't even reached the final. She watched from the sidelines while Audrey Dearnley, Peggy Matheson and Betty White romped in.

Callura's reign over Canadian amateur bantam ringmen was more significant, if less colorful. The boys really didn't give the black-haired little wildcat a fair chance. They kept their distance and Jackie wasn't on many cards in the east for the simple reason no one would get into the same ring with him. Until he was unexpectedly beaten in the trials at Montreal by Jimmy Gordon of Toronto, Callura had not lost a decision since the Olympic Games. He won the Canadian title at Winnipeg in 1933 and was voted the best boxer in the tournament.

Callura probably would have turned professional a year or so ago had the Empire Games trip not been in the offing. He wanted that excursion before settling down to the serious business of throwing straight lefts and right uppercuts for a living.

The Empire Games will be without these two, Percy Williams, the former "fastest human" who was slated to manage the track and field squad, is staying at home. There wasn't enough money in the coffers to take him to England.
