DRAG RUSTY HULK ASHORE

S.S. Islander Expected to Yield Much Klondike Gold

JUNEAU, July 24: — Treasure hunters are expected to know, shortly after August 1, whether the steamship Islander carried three million dollars in nuggets, when the vessel plunged to the bottom of Stevens Pass thirty-three years ago.

By August 1 the rusty hulk will be dragged ashore on Admiralty Island, so that workmen can enter the battered craft in search of safes holding gold from rich Klondike diggings.

The work so far has cost half a million dollars and has occupied two years.

who had declared that the murder must not be employed to incite racial antagonisms.

Princip and four accomplices were tried by the District Court at Serajevo. From this trial there emerged an alleged "confession," upon which Austria based specific charges against Serbia and made upon that country demands of hitherto unheard of severity. The "confession" purported to implicate in the murders several Serbian military officers of high rank and a Slavic patriotic organization whose headquarters were in Belgrade. The bombs thrown in the first unsuccessful attempt against the life of Franz Ferdinand were said to have come from the Serbian arsenal at Kragujevatz.

The criminals, declared Austria's ultimatum, said that the assassinations had been planned in Belgrade, that the arms with which they had been provided were given them by Serbian officers, and that their passage across the frontier was facilitated by Serbian officials.

The ultimatum demanded that Serbia make a public declaration of regret, that the country remove from military service all officers whose names would be submitted by Austria, and that Serbia accept the collaboration in Serbia of representatives of the Austria-Hungarian government for the suppression of the subversive movement directed against the territorial integrity of the Monarchy."

Serbia was given 24 hours—later extended to 48 hours—in which to reply.

JUNIOR CHAMBER'S ANNOUNCEMENT

Editor, Daily News:—

In order to keep the interest in our fair alive, the Junior Chamber of Commerce has pledged itself to assist the Fair Board in its endeavors.

Several meetings have taken place and plans are under way. The details will be found elsewhere in this issue.

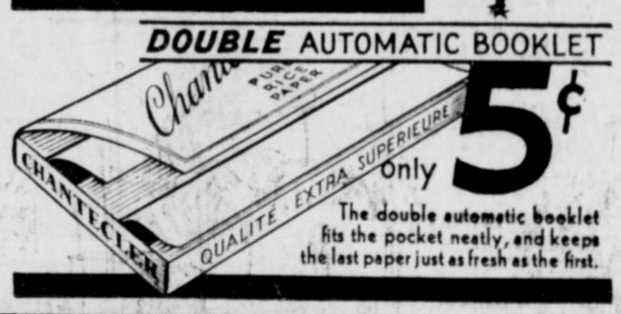

The dates chosen are August 22, 23 and 24, which will coincide with the visit of H. M. S. Danae as well as the U. S. planes. This with the arrangements which are made with other celebrated artists from the south, will help to make the carnival for 1934 the best that Prince Rupert and Northern British Columbia have ever seen.

Therefore we request the Prince Rupert public to remember the dates and to assist us in leaving these few days free from any engagements which may interfere with the success of the carnival.

Thanking you for this valuable space, we are,

Yours very truly,
JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
S. J. JABOUR.
