Mayor Dore Asking Federal Government To Provide Militia

Alaska Becoming Affected and Every Effort is Being Made to Move Ships—Ketchikan Makes Inquiry in Regard to Obtaining Meat From Here

P. Burns Co. Ltd. of this city today shipped fresh meat to Ketchikan from the local abattoir, that town having run short owing to failure of regular supplies to arrive from Seattle on account of the longshoremen's strike. This is the first shipment that has been made from here but, if the shipping tie-up continues, it is likely that more meat will have to be sent from Prince Rupert not only to Ketchikan but also to Juneau and other Alaska points.

SEATTLE, May 16: (CP)—Federal troops were asked for today by Mayor John F. Dore of Seattle to guard the waterfront so that non-union men may work ships during the longshoremen's strike which is now starting on its second week. Food and other supplies are running short in many Alaska towns and every effort will be made to move the ships.

At Longview, Wash., the Long-Bell lumber mills are closed down with three thousand men out of work. Two Everett mills shut down today, releasing 900 men.

Violence Continues
SAN FRANCISCO, May 16:—Considerable violence continues to be reported from various Pacific Coast ports as the longshoremen's strike continues and special steps are being considered by the authorities to prevent further outbreaks. Meantime, conciliation negotiations are proceeding and hope is expressed in some quarters that the strike may be settled within a few days.

Alaska Shipping Affected
KETCHIKAN, May 16:—With reports received here indicating that there may be an early settlement of the longshoremen's strike at Seattle, it is not expected Ketchikan fish shipments will be affected to any extent by the tie-up. Although there is some uncertainty as to northbound sailings from Seattle here which has already caused a shortage of certain perishable foods and other products, there has been little interference with southbound sailings. Certain freight is not being accepted northbound from Seattle including fish trolleys for here. Fresh meat is running short here and inquiries have been sent to Prince Rupert with a view to getting a supply there.

BUDGET IS APPROVED

Sugar Tax Reduction To Become Effective This Sunday Instead of On July 1

OTTAWA, May 16 (Canadian Press)—The House of Commons last night without recorded vote carried the budget of Hon. Edgar N. Rhodes, minister of finance, following several weeks of debate. The main vote on the budget came after a new Liberal amendment had been ruled out of order by Speaker Black and a Progressive amendment had been voted down by 157 to 14. A previous Liberal amendment had also been ruled out of order as had been a previous Progressive amendment.

The reduction under the budget of the tax on sugar from two to one percent will become effective at midnight next Sunday instead of on July 1 as originally announced. Premier R. B. Bennett stated that the change had been made to accommodate British Columbia canners, the season being earlier in the western province than in the East.
