Two Thousand Tons of Cargo Available But Return Loads Needed

Manager of Ocean Shipping Co., in Conference With Chamber of Commerce, Suggests Line of Action With View to Building up Export Trade Here

J. MacInnes of Vancouver, manager of the Ocean Shipping Co., told the council of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last night that his company was in a position to bring in 2000 tons of freight monthly to this port from the Orient for shipment over the railway if arrangements could be made for return cargoes from here to the Orient.

Mr. MacInnes urged the chamber to take steps to have local facilities for the handling of such commodities as timber improved and to make available such products as timber of various varieties, lower grade grain, etc. for use as part cargoes for trans-Pacific delivery. The council decided that it was advisable to take action along the line set out by Mr. MacInnes.

Mr. MacInnes, who has been here for the past few days examining the facilities of the port for the handling of shipments of aspen logs, said that certain improvements were necessary before they could be handled with the highest degree of economy.

There were also ample timber resources in this district for export shipment but they were tied up by governmental technicalities.

PREMIER AT GYRO CLUB

Matters of Interest Discussed by Head of Provincial Government Before Local Organization

Sees Improvement

Believes Depression is Nearly Over But Does Not Yet See End of Unemployment

The Prince Rupert Gyro Club, at its regular weekly luncheon yesterday, had a distinguished speaker in the person of Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier of British Columbia, who, in an interesting half-hour address, touched upon some of the important questions of the day including economic conditions, unemployment and efforts which were being made by the provincial government to bring about an early improvement.

The world was passing, Mr. Pattullo said, through an evolution of extraordinary character resulting from a number of factors including scientific discoveries and inventions, increased population, the demand for improved social conditions, higher standards of living and advanced education. New treatment must be evolved to bring about a solution of the complex problems arising from changed conditions.

Mr. Pattullo expressed the belief that the time was being approached when the world would get out of the depression but he did not see yet an end of unemployment. Meantime, the present system of relief was breaking down the morale of the people and was devastating to the mental attitude, particularly of the young. An end should be brought to it as soon as possible by

Picket Lines, Bread Lines, and Guardsmen Feature Strike

Panorama of the nation-wide cotton textile strike in the United States. Oratory of leaders such as William E. C. Beatty, of New Bedford, Mass., brought out 400,000 to 600,000 workers, National Guardsmen and bread lines. Strike will continue until workers' demands are won, or "war chests" amassed from payment of dues (see left) are exhausted. Meanwhile stacks of hundreds of textile plants are smokeless (see above), and scores of other industries are being affected to the extent of $1,000,000 a day.

FIFTY CARS OF TIMBER

More Aspen Logs to be Moved to Orient During Coming Winter

M. M. Connelly, Fraser Lake sawmill operator, expects to ship fifty more carloads of aspen logs from the Burns and Fraser Lake districts through this port to the Orient, where they will be used in manufacture of matchwood, before October 5, the logs to be loaded from here for the Orient by a vessel of the Ocean Shipping Co., probably the City of Vancouver or City of Victoria. Later in the season further shipments will probably be made.

Export of this variety of timber to the Orient was instituted several months ago when eighteen carloads were moved.

Neither Rainbow or Endeavour Able to Finish in Time So it is Off

NEWPORT, R.I., Sept. 15: (CP)—With light variable winds after the boats rounded the half way mark, the first race in the America's Cup series was declared "no contest" today when neither yacht was able to finish within the five and a half hour time limit.

Near the end, the American defender, the Rainbow, had established a lead of nearly half a mile over the British challenger Endeavour, after having had a lead of two minutes and forty seconds at the end of fifteen miles—or the half way mark.

The Rainbow crossed the starting line a minute ahead in a five-knot breeze which freshened to nine miles and then began falling. The first leg was a direct beat to windward.

Completion of Road to Cloyah Bay is Favored; Be Done Very Soon

Activities of Government Since Taking Office Less Than Year Ago Reviewed by Mr. Pattullo at Dinner in His Honor Last Night

Reiterating his statement that it appeared advisable to him to concentrate on building the Skeena River highway in the direction of the Skeena River with a view to further linking up the payrolls at those points with the city of Prince Rupert, Premier T. D. Pattullo, speaking at a dinner tendered in his honor by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last night, stated that he believed the road might well be completed at this time to Cloyah Bay. He stated that he would be going over the road today to acquaint himself intimately with the present situation in regard to it.

Mr. Pattullo pointed out that, so far, the provincial government had no sum of money worth while to undertake much in the way of road extensions, the sum of $1,600,000 which had been made available by the Legislature being little more than enough to take care of ordinary maintenance while the million dollar loan from Ottawa was entirely inadequate. However, he could give assurance that every effort would be made to push the work along as far as possible.

The Queen Charlotte Islands, Mr. Pattullo pointed out, also required work to be done and it was the intention of the government to meet as far as possible the requirements of the people there. That was the policy that was being applied to all parts of the province.

Keeping Up Demand
"We are not letting up on our demands," declared Mr. Pattullo, "for more money with which to meet our needs. There is no reason why our financial economy should not keep up with our social progress."

Regarding the pulp mill project for Prince Rupert, Mr. Pattullo said the government would go a long way to help the establishment of such an industry which might mean the employment of several thousand people and would put the community firmly on its feet. If interests came forth desirous of instituting such an enterprise, the people here could depend upon it that every possible favorable consideration would be given by the provincial government.

"You still have your great resources here," said Mr. Pattullo. "You have a fine bunch of citizens. I have every confidence in the future."

Fine Reception
There was a large and representative attendance at the dinner, upwards of one hundred persons being present, and the Premier was given a splendid reception. Charles V. Evelt, vice-president of Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, was in the chair in the absence of the president, John Dybhavn. In opening, he paid tribute to Mr. Pattullo whose ability and talents had brought him the gift of the highest public office that the province had in its power to confer—that of Premier. Unquestionably, in spite of his wider sphere of duty, Mr. Pattullo always had the interests of Prince Rupert at heart.

Following Mr. Pattullo's address, a vote of thanks was tendered on motion of City Commissioner W. J. Alder, who stated that the provincial government was giving every consideration and co-operation to civic problems and for the financial progress that might have been made the city owed much to the provincial government. G. P. Tinker seconded the vote of thanks which was passed with enthusiasm.

Tribute to Pioneers

In opening, Premier Pattullo mentioned that he saw many pioneer friends present, among them some from the Yukon, including F. W. Hart, a real pioneer of the province. There was something inspiring about pioneering. As for himself, he had never regretted pioneering it in Prince Rupert. He referred to the number of pioneers from this city who had been called to positions of responsibility in the public service. Still there was much talent left here.

The Premier reviewed some of the events which had occurred since his government had assumed office at the end of last year. He told of the conference of the premiers of four western provinces. At this conference, and it represented all stripes of political affiliation, there had been agreement that a program of public works based on the national credit was required to meet the unemployment situation. Later, at an intergovernmental conference at Ottawa, this policy had been unanimously agreed upon by all the provinces and concurred in by the Dominion government.

Private endeavor had now gone about as far as it could at this time to provide employment under existing conditions. Mr. Pattullo declared. There was nothing to depend but for the government to provide relief for a situation which was rapidly devastating the morale of the people.

Stating that he was entirely opposed to a socialistic state which could only be maintained by force and would be destructive of individual rights, Mr. Pattullo urged a program of public works based on the use of the national credit. He pointed out that his program of "work and wages" had always been

DEFICIT REDUCED

Governmental Loss Million Dollars Less Than Estimated—Balance Next Year Expected

VICTORIA, Sept. 15: (CP)—Improvement in economic conditions, coupled with economy and reorganization of governmental methods, will reduce the British Columbia estimated budget deficit for 1934-1935 by about a million dollars, Hon. John Hart, minister of finance, said Friday. He expects to be able to present a balanced budget to the Legislature next year.
