DOUGLAS CREDIT SYSTEM

We have been asked to define in as few words as possible what is the real heart and intent of the Douglas Credit System and it nearly turned our hair white as snow in trying to find out. It was intimated to us by several people that it would require the study of a whole library of books to find out and then we would not know. But relief came unexpectedly from Victoria. A writer in the Victoria Times gave the idea which was something like this:

Canada would have a central bank owned and operated by the administration for the benefit of the people. This bank would capitalize itself for, say, a billion dollars by making an entry to that effect. The unemployed would then be put to work. John Jones would be paid by check $100 for doing some work. He would at once deposit his money in the bank and draw checks on it. The bank thus received its money back at once. The checks Jones drew would go to the grocer and others and would within a few days be back in the bank again. Next month another hundred dollars would be paid to the same man and the same process would follow. If the money does not come back, the government quickly puts it back by means of taxation. Before the end of the month the bank has its original billion which was only a myth and has added to it a billion dollars of deposits which is no myth. The men have been kept at work and paid by the government and have been buying goods to keep the factories working and everybody happy. There is an unbroken stream of work and wages and good times.

This sounds something like the rat farm and the cat farm where the cats ate the rats and the furs were taken after which the rats ate the cats ad infinitum. But the Douglas Credit advocates declare it will work. We do not know.

SMOKER IS SUCCESSFUL

Good Entertainment at Event For Elks' Christmas Cheer

A very enjoyable smoker was held last night by the local Elks' Lodge in aid of the Christmas Cheer fund, about 150 being present at the affair, the program of which included exhibitions of athletic prowess as well as an acceptable musical program.

Sam Joy was master of ceremonies for the evening. The boxing card included bouts between Tommy Fraser and Darrow Gomes and between Jimmy Bryant and Chuck Hickey. On the decision of the judges, F. A. MacCallum and Dido Gurvich and Referee Bob Barnes, the Tip Top Tailors Cup for the best 145-pound boxer was awarded to Tommy Fraser. Bill Stone successfully defended his barrel boxing championship against Reg. Hogan and Bounson Hunt. Jimmy Bryant and Doug Christison each got a fall in a three-round wrestling contest. There was no fall in the first round. Christison pinned Bryant with a Boston Crab in the second round in three minutes while Bryant evened it up with a headlock and body press in the third round in two and one-half minutes. H. G. Kennedy was timekeeper.

The program included: outlaw swinging exhibitions by Jack Macfie, illuminated club swinging by Gerne Stuart, Scottish piano selections by Mr. Davis, comic songs by Bob James, humorous monologues by M. J. Dougherty and Harry Aston, piano duets by Sam Joy and Joe Scott and selections by Charlie Balagno's orchestra.

Refreshments were served in abundance.
