and to think of Corn Flakes is to think of Kellogg's. So fine is their quality, so indescribably delicious their crisp, tasty flavour, that demand is ever increasing. Today it takes the product of 675 acres of corn to supply the daily needs of the world-wide Kellogg family.

The splendid Kellogg plant in London, Ontario, is one of three large, modern Kellogg factories. There happy Canadian people work under pleasant and hygienic surroundings and under ideal conditions to supply these tasty, healthful Corn Flakes to Canada, other parts of the Empire and European countries.
