Rather belated efforts are being made in the south to provide educational facilities for the unemployed, espe- in the near future and it is being cially to the young men just out of school who are unable suggested that now might be a to secure employment.

Conditions in Prince Rupert are somewhat similar to tea and coffee. those in the south. If some system of technical evening Retail prices current here are as schools could be worked out it would be of great advan- follows: tage to the young men who find themselves in such an unenviable position.

At present there is a night school operating in the city but a charge is made for tuition. For the unemployed tuition would have to be free. Whether anything could be done to meet the situation we do not know. The department of education is ready to meet the local authorities in the matter of contributing to the cost.

TRIAL IS RECESSED

Dr. Alice Wynekoop in Hospital and Heart Specialist Called

CHICAGO, Jan. 22:-Dr. Alice Wynekoop, 62-year old woman physician, was removed to hospital last week and a heart specialist called tried for the murder of her daugh- says. ter-in-law, Mrs. Rheta Wynekoop. Her condition is described as dangerous. The trial was recessed until today and will probably be further adjourned.

During the trial an officer testified that Dr. Wynekoop had made a statement to him that her daughter-in-law had died as a result of an overdose of chloroform and that the shooting had occurred after death.

A Brilliant Save

A brilliant save during the game at Stamford Bridge recently between Chelsea and Manchester City. Scenes like this are common in Old Country soccer. Netminders must be right on their toes to block the efforts of enterprising forwards who need little urging to snap up every opportunity that comes along. With Cup ties due to get under way in the third round Old Country fans are in for many thrills such as the one depicted above.
