SPORT CHAT

New York teams were in the lead in both the National and American Leagues as a result of Wednesday's play, the Giants defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers by the odd run at the Polo Grounds while the Yankees retained a mere mathematical lead after losing to the Washington Senators at the National Capital. St. Louis Cardinals took exclusive possession of fifth place in the National League by virtue of defeating the Cincinnati Reds, the Brooklyn Dodgers dropping into sixth

The Tigers lost to the St. Louis Browns at Detroit and dropped into third place in the American League below the idle Cleveland Indians. The Washington Senators, as a result of the victory over the Yanks. advanced to fifth place, displacing the Boston Red Sox who lost by the odd run to the Philadelphia Athletics in a heavy-hitting contest.

Both the New York Giants of the National League and the Washington club of the American League are on the spot. For that matter so are the pair shown above. (1) Carl Hubbell, ace pitcher, and former Leaf, who was mainly responsible for the New York club's success, not only in the regular campaign, but in the world series. Hubbell didn't go so well this spring in training, and it is feared that the Glants will not repeat. He is the big question mark of the Giants. (2) Joe Cronin, manager and shortstop of the Senators, A. L. champions. This is his second year in a managerial role and the chances that he will not come through again.
