HOSPITAL DID WELL

Despite Difficulties Institution Had Satisfactory Year in 1933

In his presidential report for the year 1933 at the annual general meeting last night of the Prince Rupert General Hospital Association, Frank Dibb expressed a reasonable pride in the showing that had been made and the service which had been maintained by the institution under the difficult circumstances of the past year. Particularly gratifying was the financial showing, a deficit of but $1167.99 being recorded despite the fact that civic and government grants had been greatly reduced and revenue was $6634.47 lower than for the previous year. This showing had been made possible by economies which had been put into effect without, however, impairing the efficiency of the institution. Mr. Dibb paid tribute to the work of the managing secretary and the finance committee in connection with the financing of the institution. The deficit had been infinitesimal when compared with that of the most other hospitals in the country. Appreciation was also expressed of the co-operation given the hospital by City Commissioner W. J. Alder in connection with the payment of civic grants.

The question of a new hospital building had been discussed during the year, Mr. Dibb stated. If this could not be undertaken, further repairs to the present building would be needed.

Mr. Dibb made an appeal for a more adequate understanding and a more sympathetic attitude on the part of the public towards hospital problems. The importance of the hospital in the community and the necessity of education of the public along these lines were stressed.

In regard to the splendid work that had been carried out in the hospital training school, Mr. Dibb referred to the fact that of nine students who had taken Registered Nurses' examinations during the year one had passed second in the province and seventy percent had passed with first class honors.

In concluding his report, Mr. Dibb thanked members of the Medical Association and of the board, the managing secretary and lady superintendent as well as members of the staff, those who had made donations and all others who had assisted in any way.

NAVAL MAN IS SPEAKER

Commander C. J. Beard R. C. N. of Ottawa Heard at Gyro Club Luncheon Yesterday

"I hate war and I would do anything in my power to prevent it," was the frank admission of Commander C. J. Beard R. C. N., Ottawa, director of naval reserves for Canada, in addressing the Prince Rupert Gyro Club at luncheon yesterday. Seasoned naval man as he is with a long active service career, Commander Beard told his listeners that, as far as actual conflict was concerned, he had been terrified much of the time and bored the rest of it. There was little "fun" in it he had found. The speaker urged preparedness and adequate defences as the most effective means of obviating warfare.

Commander Beard, who was an officer in the Dover patrol during the Great War, speaking in a pleasantly informal and conversational style, told many interesting anecdotes of that service. It was a remarkable achievement that never a man should have been lost in the transporting of troops across the Straits from England to France and that there had been so little loss of tonnage. Undoubtedly, the Germans had missed many chances.

With enemy surface craft altogether eliminated from the area, Commander Beard told how the Channel had been closed to under-sea craft by the searchlight chain which prevented submarines showing themselves at the top of the water by night and the mines which made it impossible for them to operate under the surface.

Due to electrically controlled depth charges, the submarine had now lost much of its effectiveness in actual warfare, Commander Beard declared.

As for aerial conflict, the speaker pointed out that fog was a factor against which aircraft were still largely impotent. They simply could not operate in fog.

Commander Beard gave the interesting information, which is not generally known, that the first Canadians to lose their lives on service in the Great War were four young midshipmen who were lost in the Good Hope on November 1, 1914.

During the luncheon Frank Dibb was congratulated upon having achieved the status of a grandfather—the first member of the Gyro Club to do so. The congratulations were tendered by Past President T. W. Brown who was in the chair in the absence of W. H. Tobey, the president.

Guests at the luncheon, in addition to Commander Beard, were Walter Hume, L. H. Haworth, G. P. Tinker, T. N. LePage, H. S. Meadows, Peter Lakie and J. J. Little.

Maintenance Work Of Hospital Last Year Reported On

Improvements and repairs which had been carried out in hospital and nurses' home buildings during the year 1932 were reviewed by Robert Gordon, chairman of the house committee, in presenting his report at the annual general meeting last night of the Prince Rupert General Hospital Association. In concluding his report, Mr. Gordon pointed out that the building was now well over twenty years old and extensive repairs to the roof would be necessary in the near future.

"The Invisible Man" Is a Totally New Departure in Spectacular Entertainment

The screen translation of H. G. Wells' sensational and fantastic novel "The Invisible Man" is to be the feature offering on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here at the middle of this week. The picture is said to be a totally new departure in spectacular entertainment. The story deals with a scientist who succeeds in making himself invisible and, therefore, all powerful.

Claude Rains, London and New York stage light, has the title role. He remains unseen throughout nine-tenths of the picture. William Harrigan, Gloria Stuart, Dudley Digges, Una O'Connor, Henry Travers and Forrester Harvey also have featured parts.

Unemployed Enjoy Fine Movie Show

Rev. C. D. Clarke Responsible For Entertainment in C. L. D. L. Hall

The Canadian Labor Defence League Hall was filled to capacity Tuesday evening when Rev. C. D. Clarke of First United Church entertained the unemployed, their families and friends with a moving picture show. The views of Eastern Canada, Niagara Falls in winter, maple sugaring, etc. were much enjoyed. Of particular interest were the pictures of a "Money Making Industry," the Royal Mint at Ottawa, as also the film dealing with the salmon fishing on the Skeena River. A hilarious comedy concluded the entertainment. Thanks was expressed to Mr. Clark for his kindness in providing a very pleasant evening.
