THE ELECTIONS

There were doubtless many disappointed people Tuesday night when they heard the election news from Ontario and Saskatchewan. Premier Bennett and his supporters would be disappointed because the results do not bode well for the forthcoming federal election. No matter whether the federal election is held this fall or next summer, the only lesson to read from the provincial contests is that the present Ottawa administration will probably have to give place to one that is more progressive. Nobody knows that today better than the Prime Minister. It is the political trend and it seems as if nobody and no set of circumstances can stop that trend.

Other disappointed people were the members and supporters of the Canadian Commonwealth Federation, better known as the C. C. F. which was born in Saskatchewan and thought it had its chief stronghold there. Out of 54 seats contested all it could muster in its maternal home was five. Its activities did not seem to injure the Liberals in the least for 49 Liberals were elected and not a single Conservative.

In Ontario the situation from the C. C. F. standpoint was even worse. Only one of the candidates made the grade out of a total number of eighty members. The total collapse there was probably due to dissension over the communistic tendencies of many of the members of the party and the split between the labor and former factions.

The present defeat of the C. C. F., together with the crushing defeat in Nova Scotia at the provincial election, indicates that it has made little inroads on the two old political parties. In British Columbia it made a better showing because the Conservative party was broken up by the unwise policy of the former leader who clung to office months after he had publicly adjured his own party.

We have spoken of those who were disappointed. Naturally the Liberals were elated. They could not be otherwise. The victory was tremendous, probably too great. A more even division of the parties might have been preferable. It is to be hoped that the turnover in federal politics will not be as great. A good working majority is preferable to a Parliament made up almost wholly of members of one party.

DRAW GAME OF SOCCER

Regiment and Legion Score Three Goals Each in Cup Match

The second game of the Dominion Day Football Cup series played last evening between the Regiment and the Canadian Legion resulted in a draw of three goals each.

Play in the first half was fairly even, going from end to end rapidly. Norrington opened the score for the Regiment. Morgan saved well and then Wilson added a second for the Regiment with a well placed shot. Mitchell and Edgumbe were prominent for the Regiment with Webster and Gomez showing up well for the Legion. Norrington retrieved the ball off the goal line and Wilson made it three for the Regiment.

The second half was interrupted by a rainstorm but play was resumed. John Murray scored a fine goal for the Legion which was doing most of the pressing. McMeekin crossed a ball that the Regiment claimed was over the line before Blake cleared. Gomez, from a long way out, found the net with a lucky shot and, with only one goal between the teams, play became faster. Morgan saved well and Norrington, Mitchell and Wilson all went close. Weak back play gave the Legion a chance and Murray came into centre to head a fine goal to tie the score. Mitchell and Armstrong made headway out Blake cleared and then Wilson was bundled off when close in.

Alex Harvey made his first appearance as referee and George Dawes and Harry Dyer were line-men.

Regiment—Herb Morgan; W. Murray, A. Davies; S. Veitch, P. Edgumbe, O. Wingham; McMeekin, Alex Mitchell, J. S. Wilson, H. Armstrong, J. Norrington.

Legion—McGreish; Blake, D. Gomez; Greer, Webster, Currie, McGlashan, Baptle, Christensen, Smith, J. Murray.

For the Regiment Morgan kept a splendid goal. W. Murray made a very successful appearance in his first game and Davies was very reliable except when the last goal was scored. Edgumbe was very good as was Wingham. Mitchell was the pick of the forward line with Norrington, Wilson and Armstrong all good.

Blake and Gomez headed well but miskicked dangerously at times. Webster, Currie and Greer were reliable. Baptle, Murray and Smith were the best forwards.
