WAS TRUE LIBERAL

But Harry Sifton Fought For What He Thought Right in Spite Of Politics

TORONTO, June 26. (CP)—Harry Sifton, politician, sportsman and newspaper publisher, who died on Sunday, was by conviction and temperament a true Liberal. A man of strict independence and great intellectual courage, he was a doughty fighter for the causes he believed to be right.

He might have taken the leadership of the Ontario Liberal Party some years ago but his audacity and independence of mind did not make him a good "party man" and he knew it. There was a point beyond which his party loyalty would not carry him if the course lay outside the principles he had charted for himself. This was well illustrated by his famous break with the Liberal leader, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, over the Beauharnois disclosures in 1931.

Harry Sifton, after the death of his father, became president and managing director of the Sifton chain of prairie newspapers and head of the Armadale Corporation, the big Sifton holding company.

He entered politics in 1926 as Liberal candidate for North York, strong Conservative federal seat, and lost a keenly-fought campaign by 300 votes in a poll of 20,000. He was not again a candidate for office, but he continued increasingly prominent in public affairs through his hydro-electric campaigns.

Born in West

Henry Sifton was born in Brandon, Man., on June 26, 1891. When he was six the family moved to Ottawa, his father having become minister of the interior in the Laurier cabinet. He suffered a long and serious illness with tuberculosis in one hip but completely recovered although afterwards was debilitated from many normal activities.

He graduated from the University of Toronto in the spring of 1914. After some grounding in the investment department of the Canada Life Assurance Company and as secretary-treasurer of the Canada Bond Corporation in 1919 he joined in the managements of the Sifton interests. The other sons had entered upon enterprises more their own but Harry became in a special sense his father's agent. When Sir Clifford died the administrative work of the Sifton corporation fell upon Harry's shoulders alone. The result was the burden of responsibility during the difficult periods of the depression was carried by Harry Sifton himself.

Harry Sifton married on April 14, 1916, Mary Lewis Maclean, daughter of the late W. F. Maclean, M.P. for South York, and there was one son, Clifford, born in 1918.

MERCHANTS GETS AWARD IN FINAL FOR SPORTS

Defeated Regiment in Dominion Day Cup Soccer Semi-Final

The value of an opportunist was amply shown last evening when the Merchants beat the Regiment by two goals to nil and qualified to meet the Canadian Legion in the Dominion Day Cup football final next Monday. There was a good attendance and, although the win was against the balance of play, the Merchants did well especially as they were without Albert Dickens and George Howe.

The Regiment had all the best of the first half, their halves keeping the ball in the Merchants' end with the exception of a few breakaways. Norrington crossed dangerously and Gurvich did well to clear from Wilson's header. Edgumbe shot too high. Stiles and Moe were playing a rare game and gave the Regiment forwards few chances though the latter kept the ball far too much in the air. Henry Dickens gave Morgan a warm handful in a breakaway but Herbie was safe. It was all Regiment but no goals.

The second half was livelier but the Regiment was still having more than its share of the play. Hill crossed the ball but Stiles headed away. Gurvich saved spectacularly from Norrington at point blank range and, just after, Norrington was a shade high with a fine cross. Armstrong also had a try. Carroll broke away but Davies cleared. Lokken took advantage of a long pass to score a fine goal from twenty yards out. Regiment tried hard to score and Wingham had a try. McKay went close and Dickens made a clever run. Then Lokken had a similar opening and scored a second goal giving Morgan no chance. Carroll was hurt but resumed after attention. Regiment tried hard but could not beat Gurvich and the Merchants won by two clear goals.

Merchants—S. Gurvich; Stiles; Moe; F. Gomez; McKay, D. Gurvich; Carroll, Shrubbsall, H. Dickens, Lokken, Radcliffe.

Regiment—Morgan; W. Murray; Davies; Hill, Edgumbe, Wingham; Veitch, Mitchell, Wilson, Armstrong, Norrington.

Referee—R. B. Skinner.
Linesmen—W. Lyons and J. McGreish.
