Was Engineer On Ships Earlier In Long Lifetime

VANCOUVER, March 15.—Born at Woodhorn, England, April 6, 1853, the late Nichol Thompson, who died here recently, became a marine engineer and shipbuilder with Palmers at Jarrow after receiving his education at Alnmouth. In 1888 he came to British Columbia as an engineer for Evans, Coleman & Evans at Vancouver. From 1900 until his death he was in business privately as a consulting engineer and manufacturers' agent.

A widower, the late Mr. Thompson was a member of the Terminal City Club of Vancouver and of the Masonic craft. Despite his advancing years, he had been quite active until a short time ago. He was an enthusiastic follower of cricket and lacrosse.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.
