Manager of Power Company Sees Big Prospects Ahead For Town Of Stewart as Result of Development

Prince Rupert people should keep their eyes on Stewart, show an intelligent interest in its affairs and be sympathetic and helpful in regard to its undertakings, according to J. J. Little, general manager of the Northern B. C. Power Company, who returned from that town a few days ago. He says he knows a number of Prince Rupert people already have investments in that district and he would like to see a good deal more money put into the development of the mines. There are no unemployed in Stewart and there is every indication that the world will hear a great deal more about the camp in the very near future. Going more into detail in regard to the possibilities, Mr. Little said everyone knew that the Trail smelter, a subsidiary of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was starting work on the extension of the railway. They also knew that the well known Premier mine had put on more men recently and was shipping as much concentrates as ever. These activities in themselves meant a great deal. He was, however, very enthusiastic over the United Empire mine which promised to become one of the great mines of the district. According to reports current in Stewart, it was planned to install a mill capable of handling from 150 to 200 tons daily. As it was, the employment of a number of men by this company just on the outskirts of the town meant a great deal. If the mill were installed it would be the greatest thing that had ever happened to the north because of its nearness to the present town. Speaking of other activities, Mr. Little said the fact that the Consolidated was spending so much

BIOLOGICAL FISH WORK

Dr. W. A. Clemens Tells Gyro Club Some of Accomplishments of This Branch of Scientific Service

Salmon Research

Efforts Being Made to Maintain Proper Balance Between Escapement and Catch

Interesting facts in regard to the natural history of Pacific Coast salmon and sidelights on biological research work which is being carried on by the scientific staff of the Biological Board of Canada with a view to conservation of the fishery resources were revealed by Dr. W. A. Clemens, director of the Nanaimo Biological Station and recognized authority on the subject of salmon, in speaking before the Gyro Club of Prince Rupert at luncheon yesterday.

As far as the biological work of the board on the Pacific Coast was concerned, Dr. Clemens explained, salmon was receiving the major attention, particularly the sockeye species in view of its value and the fact that it was showing serious signs of depletion. The task was to maintain a proper balance between escapement and catch. The speaker explained the various methods which were being pursued to obtain information as to migration and habits of the various species of salmon and described some of the results which had already been obtained.

Results of Tagging

As a result of tagging, it had been learned that the spring salmon moved far afield, fish tagged in Northern British Columbia having been found as far south as California. The movement of sockeye salmon, as far as had been so far learned, was more limited. Information thus far obtained indicated that the sockeye salmon invariably returned to its native stream to spawn and die. It was different with the pink salmon. Pinks tagged on the Queen Charlotte Islands, for instance, had been found going up the Naas and Skeena Rivers to spawn.

Dr. Clemens told of the astounding mortality of sockeye salmon between the time of spawning and maturing of the fish. It had been ascertained as a result of the research work at Cultus Lake that of every one hundred eggs spawned only one went down the stream as
