CARRYING AUTOS TO INTERIOR

The service given by the railway in carrying automobiles between Prince Rupert and interior points is to be communism. He saw it spreading At the Rotary Club luncheon discussed and passed upon by the Board of Railway Com-through the whole country until missioners in the near future.

At present the business is practically nil. Cars cannot get to Terrace or Hazelton without paying a toll that is prohibitive. Tourists as well as Prince Rupert residents are cut off from enjoying the right to motor to outside the end of last week from Smithers points because the railway authorities have not so far con- in the course of a northern trip on sidered it good business to carry their cars. They might as well put up a sign reading "No cars carried."

Suppose each train carried one or two flat cars that were shunted off at Cedarvale or Hazelton and picked up there on the return, leaving the citizens of those places to arrange for the unloading and loading, it seems as if the problem would be solved. At a cost of ten dollars each there would be a more or less constant income from this source for the railway company and everybody else would be satisfied.

There is not the slightest hostility to the railway company in making this suggestion. Sooner or later Prince Rupert people must be given an opportunity to take their cars to the interior and the railway is the most suitable means of conveyance at present. With the possibility of taking the car to the Bulkley Valley, car owners would increase in number and there would follow a greater community of interest between Prince Rupert and the people of the hinterland.
