BIG RACE ON FRIDAY

Number of Prizes Donated to Model Yachtsmen by Business Houses

Excitement is tense as the big race for model yachts draws near, and over and above the cup donated by S.S. Prince George, there are several business houses donating prizes.

P. Burns & Co. Ltd. have donated a ham; Home Oil Distributors, ten gallons of gas; Capitol Theatre, tickets to the value of $6.00; Knox Hotel, one case of beer; Albert & McCaffery, coal; Dr. L. W. Kergin, half a dozen tickets to Gyro hoe-down.

It is hoped that the weather man will favor the yachtsmen with a good breeze. The proposed course is in front of the C. N. wharf where everyone will be able to see the start and finish. One o'clock is the time the race will start on Friday.

The complete list of entrants is as follows:

1. A. J. Croxford and Norman Daglish, "Enterprise" (Bermuda sloop).
2. J. Gibson, "Vagrant" (cutter).
3. Lloyd Rice, "Myevma" (smack).
4. Oscar Sather, "Maple" (cutter).
5. Cyril Bowes and Ronald Jackson, Vancouver, "Nordic" (Marconi rig).
6. A. J. Croxford, "Kia-ora" (Bermuda sloop).
7. Albert Palmer, "Gwen" (cutter).
8. Robert Rudderham, "Greennose" (schooner).

Final Arrangements

At a meeting last night final preparations were made for judges, umpires and starting arrangements.

All craft not taking part in races are being requested to use good judgment in keeping about 100 yards clear of flag area so as to have no possible interference with competing yachts and their attending skiffs.

Flag area is between the government wharf and Canadian National wharf in the form of a square out into harbor approximately one-half mile.

Competitors and officials will meet at R. C. N. V. R. headquarters at noon.

The cup to be known as "S. S. Prince George Trophy" will be competed for annually at Prince Rupert, winning yacht to hold cup for eleven months and then return to Peter Lakie at Prince Rupert.

Each boat entered in the race is designed from a famous sailing vessel, one of A. J. Croxford's entries being a complete replica in miniature of Commander T. A. M. Sopwith's "Endeavour," last year's British challenger for the America's Cup. Mr. Croxford obtained the complete plans from Commander Sopwith personally.

FINE TALE ON SCREEN

Starring the brilliant Katharine Hepburn, Sir James M. Barrie's much-loved romance, "The Little Minister," comes to the talking picture screen at the Capitol Theatre here this holiday week-end. It is a vibrant, actionful and deeply moving romance, scenes costumes and interior decorations being faithful replicas of those when Babbie trod the Scottish heaths.

The famous role of Babbie gives Miss Hepburn every opportunity to display her extraordinary and versatile talents. The book has, of course, been widely read and there is little necessity to repeat the story of the lady masquerading as a Gypsy girl and the shy Scotch clergyman.

John Beal, one of the finest of Hollywood's younger actors, is seen as Gavin Dishart, the little dominie whom Babbie loves. Alan Hale is the temperamental ruffian Rob Dow. Frank Conroy plays Lord Rintoul, the guardian. Other well known members of the cast include Donald Crisp, Andy Clyde, Beryl Mercer and Reginald Denny.

Robert Watson, well known Scottish novelist and incidentally a brother-in-law of Mrs. William Cruickshank of Prince Rupert, was literary and technical advisor on the production of "The Little Minister," his services being secured to ensure perfect fidelity to the body and spirit of the famous tale.
