DUSTSTORM IN STATES

Immense Area in Middle West Affected—Children in Kansas Are Choked to Death

CHICAGO, March 22.—A dense duststorm swept over an area of United States wheatlands 1000 miles long and 1000 miles wide extending from Nebraska on the north to Texas on the south and Iowa in the east to Colorado in the west. Two children in Kansas were reported to have been choked to death and stock is suffering. The storms, it is feared, may presage another drought season in the same area that was so badly hit last year.

PEOPLE OF PEACE WANT AN OUTLET

Sgt. Greenwood Tells of Country Where He Lived For Several Years Before Coming Here

The almost everyday question of the people of the Peace River is "when are we going to get an outlet to the coast?" said Sergeant G. H. Greenwood, chief of the city detachment of the provincial police, in addressing the Rotary Club at its luncheon yesterday afternoon, President J. J. Little in the chair. The people of the Peace River do not care whether the outlet is at Vancouver or Prince Rupert or some other place as long as they are able to get their crops to market and receive for themselves a sufficient return to make the work profitable.

When the price of wheat was high the people of the district were very prosperous for the land was fertile and crops were large, averaging something like thirty-two bushels to the acre. Feed for cattle was also plentiful and they did well on the vetch and other wild grasses.

But there came a bad crop two years ago on account of weather conditions and the produce they had would not sell. Wheat of the best grade fetched only 20 cents a bushel. It was disastrous and the country suffered. Sergeant Greenwood is of the opinion that with an outlet to the coast such conditions could not happen. There would always be a market and the price received by the farmers for their grain would be much higher than at present.

Under present conditions the residents of the Peace River section of British Columbia feel as if they were in Alberta. They look to Edmonton as their chief centre and to Grande Prairie as the local distributing point. Yet Edmonton is 500 miles away, the same distance as Prince George.

Policing Peace

Sergeant Greenwood was in charge of the provincial police in the Peace River district prior to coming to Prince Rupert. There are detachments at Hudson's Hope, Fort St. John, Rolla and Dawson Creek. The most northerly detachment was at Fort Nelson where a few years ago the officer in charge got his official mail only once a year, by the Hudson's Bay steamer on its way to the Arctic. Occasionally mail would be taken in by trappers or prospectors. Constable Clark is still in charge of that post as constable, game warden, magistrate, coroner, registrar of births, marriages and deaths and general representative of the government. He had to travel about two thousand miles a year mostly by dog team visiting the various trading posts. With him goes a special constable, a young man who speaks Cree, Beaver, Slave and French languages.

The speaker told something of the founding of the provincial police in 1858 under Sir James Douglas by an Irishman named Chartres Brew and spoke appreciatively of the Irishman now in charge, Colonel McMullin, well known formerly in Prince Rupert. Today there were 270 officers, n.e.o.'s and men on the force.

At the conclusion the president thanked the speaker on behalf of the club for the interesting address he had given.

TINY GIRL ON SCREEN

Shirley Temple Said to Have Finest Role in Thrilling Picture

Shirley Temple will be seen at the Capitol Theatre this week-end in her latest picture, "Bright Eyes." "Bright Eyes" was conceived as a Shirley Temple vehicle. The story was suggested by a real-life incident occurring at a commercial airport near Los Angeles. It represents an entirely new type of vehicle for the remarkable child player.

Once more James Dunn is cast as Shirley's leading man. He appeared as her daddy in "Stand Up and Cheer" and "Baby, Take a Bow."

Preview audiences are said to have greeted "Bright Eyes" as the finest and most heart-warming picture in which Shirley has been seen. A human and compelling story, that at moments brings the tears, is combined with abundant thrills.

The supporting cast includes Jane Darwell, Lois Wilson, Judith Allen, Theodore von Eltz, Dorothy Christy, Jane Withers, Charles Selton, Brandon Hurst and Walter Johnson.

UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Nuptials of Miss Mary Dowther and Thomas Brown Last Evening Quiet But Pretty

Quiet but pretty marriage rites for one of Prince Rupert's best known and most popular young couples, Miss Mary Ann Dowther, only daughter of the late Robert Dowther and Mrs. Dowther, and Thomas Wilfrid Brown, elder son of Judge and Mrs. J. R. Brown of Grand Forks, took place at 7 o'clock last evening in the Manse of First Presbyterian Church, Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth officiating.

The bride's beautiful wedding dress was of white satin with jacket of old lace and hat to match. She carried a bouquet of pink Rapture rosebuds and lilies-of-the-valley which was later placed on the grave of her father.

The only attendants were Miss Edith Watson, who wore a charming costume of new geranium shade with hat to match and a corsage bouquet of pink and white carnations, and Dr. J. H. Carson.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother at 633 Eighth Avenue East, sixteen relatives and immediate friends of the contracting couple being in attendance. The rooms were decorated with pink and white carnations and the bride's table, adorned with pink and white carnations and pink tapers in cut glass scones, was centred with a handsome three-tier wedding cake, the gift of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Currie.

The bride's mother wore a striking costume of blue flat crepe with hat to match and corsage bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The toast to the bride was proposed by J. T. Harvey and responded to by the groom. Other toasts were also honored.

Many beautiful gifts to be seen had been sent by the numerous friends of the couple.

Later in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, with a large party of friends on hand to give a send-off, left aboard the steamer Prince Rupert for a honeymoon trip south. They will visit in Victoria, where the groom's parents are in winter residence, in Grand Forks, the groom's old home, and will motor to California. Returning to the city in about three weeks, they will take up residence in the Waldron Apartments.

The bride's going-away costume was an attractive brown ensemble with hat and accessories to match and corsage bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bride and groom will have the hearty congratulations and best wishes of a wide circle of friends. The bride has lived in Prince Rupert since she was one year old and is highly popular. The groom has been a member of the legal firm of Williams, Manson, Brown & Harvey for some years and is no less popular.
