They received replies which indicate to them that the people are not for it. They say:

"As might be expected, a great diversity of opinion was forthcoming. In general, five threads of thought could be detected. Among party adherents Conservatives regarded a coalition as their last hope of retaining power until Bennett gave them a new lease on life with his reform platform. Now, many of them feel certain the party can stand on its own feet and win the election. On the other hand, the Liberals are supremely confident that they will step into power with little more than the lift of a finger, despite the effects of the last-minute reversal of tactics on the part of the Tories. They can't see union government with power in sight."

SUMMER READING

One of the summer books that most people will like to read is "John O' the Green," by Jeffery Farnol. It is a story of the wildwood, something along the line of Robin Hood, is full of action and yet through it runs an interesting philosophy. As a picture of the life of the early days in English history when the country was divided up into little kingdoms with absolute rulers, it is well worth reading and to add to the interest there is a very strong love theme which makes the average reader stay up at night in order to finish it. The book was published in April.

CRUELTY TO CATS

Editor, Daily News:-

I wonder if people who take their pet cats out the highway because! they are tired of them and too chicken-hearted to destroy them think it a good way to get rid of them. I wonder if they understand that cats which have been raised in a home and fed there cannot hustle a living in the woods around this part of the country.

Let me tell them a cat can exist about six weeks and then it dies. I think it a very cruel thing to kill it in that way. Last night I drove out the highway and saw three cats by the roadside in different places and am pretty sure they were taken there to starve.

Delegates Heard at Meeting of Prince Rupert Teachers' Association

There was a good attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Teachers' Association on Wednesday evening to hear reports of the recent annual convention in Victoria by the delegates. Mr. W. W. C. O'Neill pre-

Miss Caroline Mitchell gave an interesting account of an illustrated address on "Visual Education." At this the uses of the lantern slide, the film slide and the moving pictures as a valuable factor in education were shown. Many of the slides and films had been 0 prepared in Vancouver by teach-0 ers. It was a very up-to-date and practical method of teaching. Miss Mitchell also reported on an address on "Music in the Grades."

Miss E. A. Mercer brought to the! meeting accounts of addresses by Dr. George Sedgewick, Professor Ira Dilworth and Premier T. D. Pattullo. Dr. Sedgewick pleaded for a greater recognition of the essential place of art in schools, in school buildings and in the surroundings of the pupils. Ugly buildings cost as much as artistically designed schools and gave no satisfaction, disillusionment after the war and then the more recent development of the spirit of hope as shown in the writings of the younger school of

J. S. Wilson covered the various business and committee meetings. trict councils, the official reception W. G. Wilson's address, the rural breakfast function were all dealt with, as well as a multitude of resolutions. The convention had been a great success.

YOUR GOVERNMENT AND THE PROBLEM OF RELIEF

IN British Columbia to-day there exists the intolerable condition of a large body of unemployed men-recently domiciled in camps maintained by the Federal Government under the Department of National Defence-now supporting themselves as best they may.

Your Government has every sympathy with the desire of these men for gainful occupation; but the fact remains, that under the present system responsibility for the conduct of Relief Camps rests with the Federal Government.

It is not the policy of your Government to send single unemployed men to Relief Camps. It has, on the other hand, been its unremitting task to prevail upon the Federal Authorities to assume full responsibility for unemployment in Canada. It has constantly pressed for the establishment of a National Unemployment Board and for the inauguration of a nationwide programme of useful public works and assistance to private industry -financed on the national credit of the Dominion-to absorb the unemployed in gainful work.

The present situation, deplorable as it is, is made more so by the activities of subversive elements determined to undermine all existing institutions. These groups have capitalized the distress of their fellows in order to gain their own ends. There has been intimidation of business establishments and encouragement in acts of violence.

Your Government, contrary to the general impression, has never required unemployed whose homes have been in British Columbia, to go to Relief Camps. The facts are:

There were on April 15 last, 4096 single men in National Defence Relief Camps in British Columbia, while the Province maintained 15,500 single men and women-6,000 in Vancouver alone-in their homes.

The cost to the Provincial Treasury alone is approximately $450,000 a month. Ottawa adds a fixed grant of $150,000 a month.

Of these men in Relief Camps, more than 75% are not residents of British Columbia.

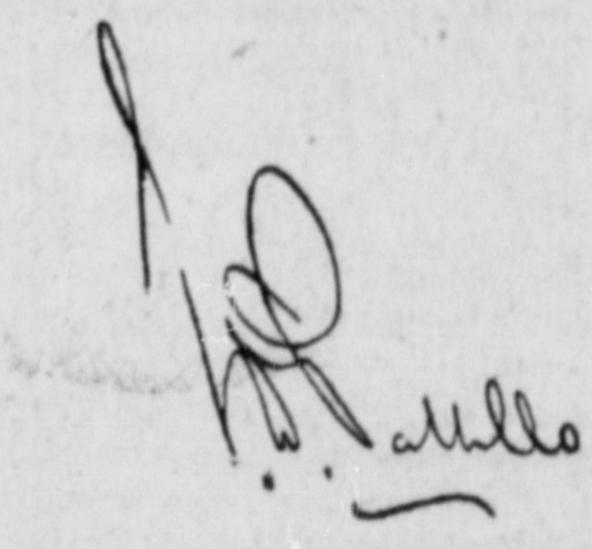

Special Health Camps are maintained exclusively by the Province, and these and other health services cost approximately $18,000 a month. Medical care is given and special attention paid to diet and sanitation for those unfit for labor.

Recreational and physical training centres for unemployed youth have been established and placed under expert supervision. Enrolment of three thousand attests to the popularity of these centres.

Your Government, apart from all this, is maintaining an average of seventy-five hundred physically unfit men a month in the City of Vancouver. Last year this branch of Relief administered from Hamilton Hall cost $1,000,000.

The cost of relief for the year 1934 was as follows: Provincial Government, $4,468,785; Dominion Government, $2,302,650; Municipalities, $1,250,062, This does not include costs of Relief Camps to the Dominion Government.

It has never been contended by your Government that a public works programme is of itself a sufficient solution to the unemployment problem. Every encouragement should be given to private endeavour, but it is considered that a public enterprise programme is a practical and reasonable method of lessening our difficulties in a form useful to all. Private endeavour has not been able and will not be able for some time to absorb all the employable now out of work. With so many necessary things to be done public undertakings should play a prominent part in improving the economic and social life of our people.
