GARDEN NOTEBOOK

The dry spring has given a great opportunity for gardeners to cultivate well and clean up the weeds but the season is late and the nights still cold. I am inclined to think seedlings are better held back until warm rains come rather than being planted out now. It is a good thing to harden them off well. It is noticeable that daffodils are much shorter in the stem this year than usual. Jack Fuller has some nice Emperor daffs that have long stems and large flowers. These it seems are among the largest grown.

A very showy clump of hyacinths is in full bloom in Joe Naylor's centre bed in the front of his house. It is a pity that First Avenue is not in better condition for driving so that more people might see Mr. Naylor's and Mr. Fuller's respective gardens. There is always a nice showing of flowers there. Theo Colliart also has a very showy front garden just now with the yellow doricum and white arabis nicely combined.

Many people have remarked upon the excellent work being done by the Canadian National Railways in improving their gardens lately. Starting at the softball grounds some splendid dry walls have been built and the little stream has been neatly walled. The work is proceeding in the direction of the proposed new sunken garden which has been well drained and cleaned out. Pretty soon the workmen will have reached that point and before the summer is out it is expected that great improvements will be made there. Other improvements in the C. N. R. gardens are being undertaken which will make them very attractive. Pretty soon we shall have people coming to Prince Rupert to see the gardens just as they do at Portland.

Progress is being made with the sunken garden at the back of the Court House. Beds are being made on the south side of the quarry and the work is being carried out systematically and well. Even this season there should be a creditable showing though it will take several years to get the necessary rock plants to give the proper effect.

Bob Gordon tells of how he saved some of his wall roses this last winter. He nailed a strip of canvas to the side of the house above them and let it fall loosely down covering them from the cold winds. The result is that, where his roses had frozen down two seasons following, he now has them doing well and with new shoots six inches long.

Mr. Gordon does not plant any of his old chrysanthemum roots. Instead he takes cuttings early in the spring, brings them on rapidly in the greenhouse and destroys the old roots. The centres of the young plants are picked off to make them bushy. The flowers from the young plants, he says, are much finer than they would be when grown from the old roots—H. F. P.

As Mayor Read Riot Act to Vancouver Strikers

When 1,500 men from Dominion relief camps crowded into Vancouver demanding work, serious riots took place which required assistance of R.C.M.P. to quell. Mayor G. G. McGeer after receiving the delegation, finally took recourse in reading Riot Act from foot of Vancouver cenotaph. He is seen (circle) as he read the famous act.

UNEMPLOYED DISSATISFIED

At a meeting of the unemployed councils in the Exchange Block last night considerable dissatisfaction was expressed at the government work program. Work and wages had resolved itself into slavery and starvation, it was declared. The situation was reviewed at length by several speakers, clothing especially being mentioned. A committee of seven was elected to interview the government agent and the city commissioner today and present demands. The result of the interviews will be presented by the committee at a special meeting of the unemployed this evening.

A Daily News Want-Ad. will get what you want.

Will Rogers is fond of saying: "Well, all I know is what I see in the paper". It is substantially true that all most of us know about current topics is what we see in the daily newspaper.

An unusual bond of friendship unites the reader and his newspaper, a relationship cemented by that wonderful thing we know as "News".

What is it?

News might be called the theme song of life. It is the sound of civilization's machinery in motion. It is the speed gauge of progress. It is the background of all thinking, all planning and all knowledge of current human affairs.

Because of this quality, when white paper leaves the printing presses carrying "the news", it has become an active force in its city, its country and the world.

In such an atmosphere of motion and vitality the Daily Newspaper places within the hands of maker and seller the power of contact with this new-reading public—a power that is limited only by the advertiser's own ability to use it intelligently.
