SPORT CHAT

Hockey, Canada's outstanding contribution to the sports realm of the British Empire, has extended its ever-widening sphere to the Mother Country and the enthusiasm with which the winter game has been received stands out as the highlight of sport in Great Britain's Silver Jubilee year of 1935.
Fostered for years by a handful of Canadians at Oxford and Cambridge Universities and bolstered more recently by tours of Dominion teams, amateur hockey emerged this fall as a mammoth attraction, taking its place with soccer, rugby and cricket and attesting still further to the sporting proclivities of the British people.
Stadium after stadium has been erected as sports promoters seek to satisfy the demand for "the fastest game in the world." England in the autumn saw a veritable invasion by ambitious Canadian amateurs and now matches in London are a magnet for huge crowds. Outside the capital the ice game is highly popular in Manchester, Liverpool, Birmingham, Brighton and several other cities.
Two leagues are operated—the National and English Leagues—while an international flavor is injected by frequent tussles with French clubs. In addition to players, England has lured several notable Canadian hockey coaches, among them Percy Nicklin, former mentor of Moncton Hawks and "Babe" Donnelly of Sault Ste. Marie.
The governing body of the sport is the British Amateur Hockey Association and it is finding it an easy matter to attract young Englishmen. One of the regulations requires that each league club must carry six English-born players.

FISH PAINT ON CHURCH

Canned Variety Runs Out So Homemade Color Used—125th Anniversary Celebrated

SAMBRO, N.S., Dec. 19: (CP)—A fishermen's church for generations, St. James United Church has the nautical touch down to walls painted with cod liver oil as it celebrates its 125th anniversary in this community of fisher-folk.
Founded in 1810, it has served first the Methodists and then in the United Church of Canada. Preachers and congregations have come and gone, but the tiny church has stood.
Though the going was sometimes hard in that century and a quarter, it struck no serious snag until last year. Then, with the church half covered, the paint gave out. There was no money, and it looked as though the building was to remain mottled until funds were raised.
But the fishermen were not stumped. Someone found some red ochre. Others turned over cod liver oil they were saving for market. Mixed, the two were just the thing. And the painting went on.
Now, the church spire points into the sky from Graveyard Point proudly as ever beacon for the fishermen as they come in from the Atlantic. Inside, Rev. F. W. Mitchison, student minister from Flat Islands, Nfld., conducts services and supervises the night school classes that are held twice a week.
Grateful for the lessons, the fishermen are getting up a new scheme to free the church of financial worries when painting time rolls around again. They plan to donate one of their lobster pots' piece to the church, and to give it all revenue from that pot.
