= THE COSY CORNER =

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

MODISH SILK GOWN

Stripes and checks are tremendously popular, and our cut today shows an effective afternoon gown of black and white checked messaline. The checks run bias on skirt and front of high-waisted bodice. A flat collar of accordion plaited white chiffon trimmed with narrow velevt ribbon outlines the round yoke of lace. Across the front at the bust line is a band of Chinese embroidery, in beautiful wistaria shades of silk, and a heavy white cord and tassels finishes waist line.

Woolen flowers on the sheerest frocks have come into unusual importance. They are circular disks of crocheted work, gathered into a centre and in many sizes. The smallest ones are one inch in diameter and are used with embroidered stems on the edges of sashes. Large ones form patches of color on the bodice or girdle.

LACE YEAR THIS

Combining Embroidery with All Materials is the Fashion

Combining lace or embroidery with other materials is a feature of the season. It is an effective fashion, very striking and becoming. The lace or embroidery forms a tunic or makes the upper part of the skirt and the lower part of the waist. Filet or more heavy lace, or even a close mesh of Valerciennes, is most effective over black or colored satin. A model on this order that has attracted favorable attention has a wide fold of deep cerise satin on the overskirt which falls over a second fold, and again a third fold furnishes the bottom of the skirt. This same model in black instead of cerise is very smart, as well as still another rendering of the same design in a flowered and plain soft finished taffeta. Also it has been made successfully in a flowered chiffon with Liberty satin.

Voile, Chiffon, Marquisette

Voile, chiffon, marquisette—there is a ceaseless repetition of their popularity this season. All transparent materials, and surely there are many more than were ever known before, are in constant demand, and such charming results are achieved it is not remarkable that dressmakers and customers are alike enthusiastic.

Sardine Salad

Cover a large plate with lettuce leaves, letting them come over the edge of the dish. Take any kind of boiled white fish that has been "left over" and pick into small pieces, covering the lettuce, leaving a narrow margin; split six sardines, taking out the bone and lay them on the fish, the heads to the centre, and spread around to form a disk; put a little parsley in the middle of the dish, at the heads and on the fish; between each sardine put a generous teaspoonful of mayonnaise, slice a lemon and cut each slice in half and garnish the edge of the fish, the rind lying on the lettuce.

If we reject reciprocity now, we reject it for this generation, at least. If we accept this reciprocity pact, we take it on trial and can throw it over one year from now, two years from now, or ten years from now or any time.—Calgary Albertan.

How It Feels to Fall One Thousand Feet

Aviator Who Escaped With His Life Describes His Experience

Arthur Stone the aviator who fell into Lake Michigan with his aeroplane from a height of more than 1000 feet narrowly escaping death tells how it feels to drop that distance.

"My first thought was when I saw no tugs in sight and the storm coming on," said Stone. "I'll bet I won't get home to dinner in time. Funny, isn't it, when one is facing death, but that was my first thought.

"My next thought was, I've got to swim because those mutton heads won't see me. I acted on that second thought and paddled the water at a rate that would have done credit to an old lake packet.

"When I stop to think how close I came to poor Johnstone's tragic end it makes me quake.

"I first noticed that something was wrong when with my machine after I had made the first turn on the second lap. About two miles out I pulled my controls. They did not work. I pulled and pulled. I was drifting off the course into the hazy mist over the water, and then I concluded my end had come.

"I pulled frantically at the controls again and that time they responded. Instead of making the left turn as I wanted to, the machine darted up into the sky at a terrific speed. I was going out past the line.

"I knew it was running wild.

"I kept pulling the controls and trying to come back to earth. Then suddenly something happened to the controls. I felt the machine turn and then speed like an arrow for the lake. I tried to turn it tail first but couldn't do it.

"The I saw the lake water. It seemed to be coming up to me. I wasn't afraid. Again I thought of Johnstone and his being dragged down beneath the water. In the few seconds' time I was falling I did a thousand and one things. I held my hand over my face and stood up in the cockpit.

"When the machine was 30 feet from the water I dived head first and away from it. It hit about the same time I hit with a great crash. I had on a life preserver and was able to keep afloat until the tugs came."
