From the Waterfront

The snagboat Essington arrived in port this afternoon from the Skeena River where Captain Watson and crew have been clearing the river of snags which are a danger to the fishermen.

The Indian Department's cruiser Naskeena, with Dominion and provincial police officers aboard, had not returned to port up to this morning from a trip to the wreck of the steamer Denali on Zayas Island to investigate reports of pilfering from the wreck. It is likely that prosecutions may ensue.

As soon as possible after her arrival here tomorrow morning from Vancouver, C. N. R. steamer Prince George will sail for Anyox and Stewart and will be back here Friday afternoon from the north to make connections with the train for the east that afternoon for which she will be bringing passengers.

Popular Actress Starred in Marital Drama at Capitol Theatre

Marital complications comprise the basic plot material of the drama, "Second Hand Wife," at the Capitol Theatre this mid-week. Sally Eilers, in the leading role, has a somewhat different part to play but handles her role in a fashion to create sympathy and attract her fans.

The story of the film is an adaptation of the Kathleen Norris novel of the same name which has proved a best seller, especially with feminine readers.

The narrative concerns the wealthy business man, his dissatisfied wife and his secretary who becomes his wife following his divorce.

Helen Vinson is cast as the scheming unfaithful person in love with the violin teacher of the talented child played by Karol Kay.

Ralph Bellamy and Victor Jory head the male members of the cast in this entertaining picture which, with its cast of well known names, is lived up to by turning in adequate performances.
