Highlights in Career of British Prime Minister Who Has Just Retired

The resignation of J. Ramsad MacDonald, prime minister of Great Britain, has just been announced. The head of the National government and former Labor leader is suffering from a serious eye ailment which made it impossible for him to carry on. His retirement from active political life is the result. He has been a dominant figure in British and world politics for many years. Former Labor premier in 1924, he was called by the King to form a National government late in 1929 and has been prime minister ever since.

Check-up to Be Made On Subsidized Boats On Coast of Pacific

Recommendation Contained in Report of Industrial And International Relations Committee Presented To House of Commons Today

OTTAWA, June 12: (CP)-Departments of the Dominion government concerned today were urged to keep a close check upon the operations of ships on the Pacific Coast enjoying subsidies to see that employment is given among the crews to as many white citizens as is reasonably possible. This recommendation was contained in a report tabled in the House of Commons from the industrial and international relations committee.
