EVOLUTION OF ISRAEL

History of Britain's Rise in Story Of Western Civilization, Declares B. I. Speaker

The regular meeting of the British Israel Federation, Prince Rupert branch, was addressed last evening by George Wilson on the subject "Israel's Social Evolution." Taking the evolutionary law in biology that "the interests of existing individuals have no place in the scheme of things except insofar as they are included in and subordinate to the larger end in the future," he speaker applied this law to "society" as a living organism. He showed the operation of the laws which are governing social progress and how every phase of social life, political, economic and ethical, occupied strictly controlled and subordinate relationship to these laws.

The subject really should have been "The Causes of the Growth of the British Commonwealth of Nations." The tremendous expansion of the population of the British Isles from being the least significant of European peoples until nearly half the world was under the direct influence of British laws, government and institutions in a most brief period in the world's history was practically the history of western civilization. The causes for this progress were first military, then religious tolerance, then political tolerance.

The law of natural selection, the survival of the fittest, was shown in operation among the nations until military supremacy was attained. How the rule of absolute force was broken; how the rule of religious absolutism imposed by the church until reformation times, was broken; how the stress, rivalry and competition inherent in the law of natural selection emancipated the human intellect; how the conception of "The People" broke the Divine Right of Kings; the ideas which caused these occurrences were in the last resort held as religious convictions, arising from the doctrine of the insufficiency of the individual by his own natural powers to fulfill the law and do every act necessary to his salvation.

The implication arising out of the Darwinian hypothesis that the future was more important than the present was one of the chief tenets of Christians and applied to species and races as well as to individuals and social systems.

There was, as usual, considerable discussion among the members. P. H. Linzey, president was in the chair.

GROTTO WINS IN SOFTBALL

Defeated C. N. R. A. by Odd Run In Free-Scoring Contest

On a wet and slippery field, Grotto balltossers lambasted the railroaders to the tune of 9 to 8 in the City Softball League last night. The Canadian National Recreation Association gathered in six runs in the fifth inning, which should have won any ball game, but the Grotto bunch came right back in the same inning, garnering five runs. The game was featured by wild throwing due to wet ball and slippery ground.

Bury, for the Grotto, had a perfect day at bat, getting five hits in five times up while, for the C. N. R. A., Lambie with three hits out of four times up, including single double and three-bagger, was the leader.
