ASTRAL PHENOMENON

Following the news published in this paper yesterday | telling of the appearance of a brilliant meteor | flashing | over Prince Rupert, we consulted an astrologist as to the meaning of the phenomenon. The seer went through the !! proper formalities incident to a search into the possibilities of the future, passed into a trance, and revealed that the appearance of the meteor was a propitious event sig. SCOTTISH nifying some great change in connection with the city. It might mean the birth of a great man who would, after much tribulation, descend upon Ottawa and secure work and wages for all the people including sinners. It might seven to Two Score in Favor of mean that the port had been selected for some great centre such as that of a naval base or the shipping point for grain from the Peace River by way of a new western outlet. More possibly it indicated an industrial develop ment which would bring such prosperity to Prince Rupert that there would be work and wages for all (including sinners), merchants and others would be able to pay their rent, debtors pay their overdue bills and meet their drafts and the sheriff be given a holiday.

The astrologist came to, shook herself together, rubbed her eyes, smiled and inquired: "What have I been talking about? I fancy I must have been in heaven."

DON'T FORGET INTERIOR

Prince Rupert people and especially the merchants are urged once more to remember the farmers of the interior. This is the natural market for much of their produce. game called on account of dark-They must sell or they cannot carry on. We have to buy ness). and, if we can buy from them, it will be a double advantage. Merchants, too, will remember that, if they buy from the farmers, they will be more likely to find a market for their own goods among the people of the interior.

Farmers are the wealth producers of the country. They have suffered like the rest of us from the long depression which is now rapidly passing. They deserve every possible encouragement. They need encouragement from us personally in helping to provide them a market and they need encouragement from the governments, such as has been promised in the establishment of experimental stations and through their institutes. We commend this cause to all concerned.

A LITTLE COMPANY GROWN BIG

TMPERIAL OIL was a little Company in 1880. There was then only a handful of employees. A dozen or so products were the Company's stock in trade.

Today nearly 18,000 Canadian men and women are engaged in making and selling 714 different Imperial Oil Products. So, counting their families, there are about 90,000 people directly dependent for livelihood on this Company and its operations. 90,000 is a lot of Canadians.

Imperial Oil's growth depended upon more than growth in population and demand. Fair dealing, honest value and the ability to meet new needs with new products and new services all played their part. Of course a loyal, capable staff was indispensable. Such a staff was built up by fair and considerate treatment. Good wages, sickness and death benefits, retirement pensions, group insurance, industrial councils - these are some of the measures by which the Company has recognized its responsibility to the men and women in its employ. These men and women have recognized in turn their responsibility to the Company. By loyal, whole-hearted service they have helped it to make better products at lower cost and thus become "a big company."
