"Tailoring is First-class."
GLACE BAY, N.S., CANADA.
Dear Sirs,—I am in receipt of my suit a few days ago, and I am very well pleased with the same. The tailoring is first-class in every respect, and the fit is the same. Thanking you for the way you made all the changes I asked for. The same suit here would cost, tailor made, $25. So wishing you all success in your business, I am, respectfully yours,
Order No. C.F. 2125. (Signed) DAN. J. MCKENZIE.

"Better Satisfied After Testing in Actual Wear."
BRIDGEPORT, NOVA SCOTIA.
Gentlemen,—Last year I got from you some clothing, and afterwards wrote for spring and summer samples. I might now say that after fifteen months' experience I am better satisfied with it than I was at the beginning. The tweed suit was made with wonderful skill, retained their colors and shape, and after fifteen months of "strenuous life," they look almost as good as new.
I would now like samples of some steel grey worsteds for a suit, and some of the lightest summer and spring cloths, and also some for raincoats.—I remain, yours truly,
(Signed) M. E. ARMSTRONG.

A PLAIN MAN ON THE PACT

Interesting Letter to the Editor of the Daily News

Sir,—Would you kindly allow a plain man to elucidate a few "plain" facts respecting his humble opinion of reciprocity and the annexation cry which has been raised, like a scarecrow, by the office-seekers on the Opposition benches and their friends?

We suppose tory readers often take up the monthly magazines, published across the borders. They have been discussing our form of government, and that of the United States, and are unanimous in the opinion that we have "responsible government," while theirs is a "proper sham." President Taft and his administration is in power, for four years, whether the people consider him competent or not. He brings forward a measure that is considered favorable by his own party to the people of another country, and detrimental to the interests of the "trusts and combines" of the United States; but he uses a "big stick" on the House of Representatives and the Senate, and through it goes, despite the "moneyed interests and to the great joy of the consumer."

Homeland Policy

We, knowing that reciprocity, as given in the measure now before the people, is all in favor of the producers and farmers and for the great benefit of our consumers, say to the people of Canada: "It is for you to say whether your representatives shall deal with a friendly nation in the articles necessary for food and use. Our Mother Country has 'free trade' with all nations, and is prospering, shall you do likewise?"

If the United States is anxious to "gobble up" our Dominion why, let me ask, did that country act as it did with Cuba? Then there is Mexico, waiting to be taken over, and many other of the "little republics." Any man of reason knows that the United States is too unwieldy for the government, and there is a common complaint from the Pacific Coast that Washington is too far away to understand the needs of California, Washington State and Oregon.

Retain Independence

We are in a better position than the United States, with our responsible government and just laws. In fact, we are better off than the people of England, Ireland or Scotland. If there has been any talk of "annexation," where did it come from? Surely, cheaper food does not mean that we must dispense with our own "independence?" From 1854 to 1866 we had reciprocity in natural products, with the United States, after Great Britain abolished preferential duties on eighty Canadian products and left Canadian trade depressed. It lasted twelve years, was terminated by the United States, and all because the benefits were twenty to one in favor of Canada. In 1869 Hon. John Rose went to Washington—sent there, mind you, by the Conservative government—and offered "complete reciprocity." In 1879 the Macdonald government—Conservative again—offered "reciprocity in natural products with the United States." In 1887 Sir Charles Tupper—again a Conservative—made "an unrestricted offer of reciprocity."

In 1898, the Laurier government offered reciprocity in natural products. The United States wanted a treaty that would cover certain manufactures. The Liberal government rightly turned down the offer and further negotiations.

In 1911, President Taft invited the Liberal government to Washington and a reciprocity treaty was drafted, favorable again to Canada, and it is now for the people of this Dominion to vote for or against it.

Contradictory Conservatives

The Conservative party states, distinctly, that we do not need reciprocity, yet they have been seeking it for years. We have fish to sell; timber, owned by speculators, burning down in our forests (and thanks to a Conservative government the timber is mostly owned by residents of the United States). The working men are feeling the effects of "trusts and combines," and food has almost doubled in value, under protection. We are accused of being in favor of "annexation," when we follow the example set by the Mother Country. If we favored annexation, why are the "trusts and combines of the United States and Canada providing the sinews of war to defeat a measure that is favorable to the working classes?" In our business dealings, we buy in the cheapest and best market and sell where we obtain the best prices.

Annexation Bogy

The bogy called "annexation," is so trivial that fair-minded men look on it with a smile on their faces. We all know that the United States is perfectly satisfied to have a neighbor building up from the farmers and workmen of their shores—men and women who appreciate our government and desire to live under it. If Canada desired to have any change, would she not talk "independence" rather than annexation? Still we do not hear of one word why we should either be "independent" or throw ourselves into "the arms of the United States." We are a progressive people, who desire to do our own business, in a business way. The United States desires to remove the "tariff wall and deal with us, giving what we desire most, without restriction, and accepting what we have to dispose of." Why should we pay more for what we require to eat, to drink and to use otherwise, than it is worth, just to suit parties who have kept up prices, on account of the tariff? It is an assured fact, that the Liberal government would not make a treaty that meant the loss of prestige after so many years in office and with an election facing them. The people think and read. They know Conservative rule as always meant trouble. Prince Rupert and the neighborhood has a great many natural products to dispose of, to the highest bidders and will need many of the articles covered now by an almost prohibitive tariff.

Pilot is Straight

The Conservative cry is simply a subterfuge, without one tittle of evidence to back it up. We have had a good, clean, honest man at the wheel of the ship of state. In his declining years, it is his ambition to do all in his power to aid the people who have stood by and with him. Prince Rupert owes him a debt of gratitude for the railway now under construction. On his recent visit, all parties and conditions of men acknowledged that Sir Wilfrid Laurier viewed the grand work of his administration, in the building up of a new city, with the opening up of thousands of miles of territory, and the expansion of the vast Dominion. If reciprocity was necessary, as shown by the actions of both parties, in the years that have passed away, it is doubly necessary now. The tariff wall "made the poor man poorer, and the rich man richer." Let us tear it down, on the 21st, and scatter the debris so that even the opponents will find that clear which they know, right down in their hearts, has been a detriment to the development of the country.

"PROGRESS."Our Loyalty Undoubted

Says the London Times: "Whatever may be the decision of Canada, it will not be ascribed in this country to any motive or consideration incompatible with the loyal sentiments to which eloquent expression has been given by both sides during the Ottawa debate. Canada has given many proofs of her devotion to the Empire; not least among them has been the introduction of Imperial preference, to which Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues were the first to give practical effect."

The wise guy never jolts a hornet's nest to find out what's in it.
