Fourteen Point Platform, With Which Party Will go Into Election, Reviewed—Will Endeavor to End Unemployment and Promote Trade—Repeal Of Section 98 Definitely Pledged

OTTAWA, August 3: (CP)—Liberalism holds a personality more sacred than property and the Liberal party will devote itself to finding means of distributing the wealth of the nation with increasing regard to human needs, Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition, said last night in the second of a series of pre-election radio addresses. He said the party would go into the election on a fourteen-point platform enunciated in 1933 which had been endorsed in Liberal victories in federal by-elections and provincial general elections. Time had shown that this platform was suited to the needs of Canada today. The fourteen points of the Liberal platform were:

A representative national commission to administer unemployment relief and provide work and an national system of unemployment insurance.

Reciprocal trade agreements with other countries, removal of extravagant increases in tariff, abolition of all unwarranted extra imposts such as exchange and dumping duties and a substantial British preference.

Promotion of internal trade by ending artificial price control and agreements in restraint of trade.

Development of primary industries by reducing costs of production and obtaining wider markets.

National control of credit through a national central bank.

Protection of investors by an investment control board.

Maintenance of the Canadian National Railways as a publicly owned and publicly controlled service.

Democratization of industries through granting workers and consumers a larger share in control.

Restoration of responsible government by doing away with "blank check legislation."

Free speech, free association and repeal of Section 98 of the Criminal Code of Canada.

Electoral reform.

Balanced budget through reduction of public expenditures, reducing of interest rates, reducing of taxes and increasing of revenue by encouraging trade.

Peace and goodwill in international affairs.

More equitable distribution of wealth with greater regard for human needs, social justice and promotion of the common good.

This was the platform of a party and not of one man, declared Mr. King. It was a minimum of united effort to which a party was pledged. More venturesome members could make other proposals which would be added to the program as those members were able to persuade the others of their wisdom.

More machinery and less manual work advocated—Federal official suggests new sea-plane base site

The manner of carrying on provincial government road work here was discussed at some length last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, the subject having been brought up by F. W. Wesch and J. E. Boddie, who claimed that, without interfering with the principle of day labor, or curtailing the amount of actual employment, better progress could be made by using machinery to a greater degree instead of pick and shovel.

NEW YORK, August 3:—Stock prices were reactionary as trade volume returned to normal proportions on the New York Exchange yesterday with a turnover for the day of 1,520,000 shares. Industrials closed at an average of 124.93, off .92, and rails at 34.73, up .35.

CONVENTION IN SESSION

Hon. A. Wells Gray Addresses Gathering at Prince George—Delegates on Motor Trip To Cariboo

Resolutions Passed

Highway Construction and Other Needs Are Urged Upon Authorities

PRINCE GEORGE, Aug. 3:—With delegates present from every district except Terrace and Stewart, the annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia opened here yesterday under the presidency of J. W. H. Day of Vanderhoof. The delegates were officially welcomed by Mr. Day, Mayor A. M. Patterson of Prince George and George Williams, president of the Prince George Board of Trade, after which committees were appointed. Yesterday afternoon the convention was addressed by Hon. A. Wells Gray, minister of lands and municipal affairs.

Mr. Gray explained the stand of the provincial government in regard to the working of the Farm Creditors' Relief Act, showing how it would affect government policy in different parts of the province. He stated that it would be the policy of the provincial government to review all cases coming before it and deal with them on their merits but it could not allow an outsider to come in and tell the government of the province what it should do, especially in matters affecting their revenue. The minister of finance was trying to establish the credit of the province prior to the bringing down of a refunding scheme in which there would be a lowering of interest but there would be no repudiation. Bondholders would be paid in cash if they wished. It was also planned to make better provision for the resettlement of reverted lands.

Robert Wilkinson of South Point Grey gave an address in which he expressed the greatest optimism for the development of the north country. He urged the encouraging of tourist travel through the country and also the encouraging of outside capital to develop the mines and other industries. He criticized the federal relief camps but urged instead the establishment of construction camps and

Trial of Trekkers Attracts Large Crowds

Trial of six leaders of the British Columbia relief camp strikers is arousing great interest in Regina, and as the mounted police courtroom where the sessions are being held only accommodates 40 persons, about 100 people stand in an alley each day "listening in" at the windows, and providing scenes such as this. It's men and women first—and the youngsters couldn't even find the smallest vacant spaces at the window. The strike leaders are charged with being members of an unlawful association—the Relief Camp Workers' Union.

CAPITALISM WASHED UP

Youthful C. C. F. Member From Vancouver East Gives Vigorous Address at Public Meeting Here

Flays Old Parties

Describes Objective of His Own Party But Allows Himself Little Time to Explain Methods

Winding up an extended speaking tour of the province, Harold Winch, vigorous young C. C. F. member of the provincial legislature for Vancouver East, was heard in the Moose Hall here last night by an audience which, although not large, gave an interested and attentive hearing. As C. F. speakers are often prone to do, Mr. Winch devoted a large amount of time after opening in attacking the capitalistic system and the two older parties with the result that he left himself little time to explain in any sort of a specific manner how his own party intended to proceed in bringing into being the new idealistic socialistic state which he said was its objective. The capitalistic system had served, the speaker declared, in solving the problem of producing an abundance of the necessities of life and had now

Alleged Murderer of Police Chief Seized From Jail and Hanged

C. L. Johnson, Aged 24, Claims That His Partner Was Responsible For Slaying Officer Who Intercepted Them After Robbery

YREKA, Cal., August 3: (CP)—A mob of fifty masked men dragged C. L. Johnson, aged 24, from the county jail here early this morning and lynched him for the murder of Chief of Police F. R. Daw of Dunsmuir, Cal., who stopped two men last Monday following a robbery. Johnson blamed his partner for the crime.

FLIGHT IS ABANDONED

Pilot Levaneffsky and Companions Were Nearly at North Pole When Forced to Turn Back

MOSCOW, Aug. 3: (CP)—Sigmund Levaneffsky and the crew of his Soviet polar plane, who hopped off from here this morning on a projected non-stop flight to San Francisco via the North Pole, abandoned the flight tonight because of oil trouble and turned back as the craft was nearing the North Pole. Ejection of lubricating oil from the feeding tank caused excessive consumption of oil and, being unable to remedy the trouble, the fliers decided to turn about and head across Kola Peninsula towards Leningrad.

EXODUS GRADUAL

Still Four Hundred Men Working At Anyox

The exodus of workers from Anyox this week in connection with the closing down of the Granby Co.'s workings there is proving to be a more gradual and slower process than had been at first anticipated.

Only one steamer has made a special run to Anyox in connection with the movement, this being the Princess Adelaide which was here early this morning on her way back to Vancouver. The Adelaide brought 63 persons out of Anyox, 10 disembarking at Prince Rupert.
