UNITE ON HANSON

There are a good many people in Prince Rupert who have looked over the program of the C. C. F. and found much of it very similar to the Liberal program. They say they have voted Liberal in the past and cannot feel that they have secured any benefits therefrom.

In looking back we find that the Liberal party under Mackenzie King has never had a good working majority. It has had to depend for its existence on independents or members of other parties and hence their hands were tied. On this occasion Mr. Mackenzie King is asking the people to give him a good working majority in order that he may place legislation on the statute books in the interests of the people.

There is nothing to be gained by returning a C. C. F. candidate, even if such a thing were possible in Skeena. There could be no C. C. F. government even if all the candidates in the field were elected.

Why then risk the chance of making the country prosperous by means of a Liberal government? Possibly one or two former Liberals voting C. C. F. might be the means of letting a Bennett supporter go back to Ottawa and thus destroying the hope of improvement for another four years.

What is needed today is a united Liberal administration and the voters of Skeena can help to bring it into being. Conservatives mean well. C. C. F. supporters also think they are doing the right thing in trying to return a socialist as a protest, particularly against Bennettism. They can achieve the same end by voting Liberal, electing Olof Hanson by an overwhelming majority and do their bit toward helping the return of prosperity to this district.

By voting for Hanson there is more chance of getting that two cents duty against Canadian halibut removed. By voting Hanson we shall have an experienced candidate on the side of the government who is known to be a worker and who is better than any other able to help us in the present industrial crisis.

STAR OF OLYMPICS

Duncan McNaughton, Who Won High Jump at Los Angeles In 1932, Here at Week-End

Duncan McNaughton, who won for himself a place in the world's sport Hall of Fame at the 1932 Olympic Games in Los Angeles by taking high jump honors, was in Prince Rupert at the end of last week aboard the steamer Princess Louise bound for Vancouver after having spent the summer with a federal Geological Survey party in the Dease Lake section. A graduate of the University of Southern California, McNaughton is now a geological engineer. Before winning Olympic fame, he was prominent in Vancouver Olympics. While here McNaughton met his father, A. L. McNaughton, engineer of the Dominion Water Branch, who is now at Port Simpson in connection with the installation of a new water system at that village, having started work today.

Stevens Seen in Perspective

Hon. H. H. Stevens, prominent for many years in Vancouver, and who came into national prominence as minister of trade and commerce, is seen in the above layout as an ordinary family man, and not the type of leader who dons overalls during an election campaign. In (1) Mr. Stevens is seen, in his latest photograph, at his desk in Ottawa. The Stevens home in Vancouver (2) from 1910 to 1922 where the three youngest children, Sylvia Mary, Patricia Irene and Douglas Carlyle, were born. The present home in Vancouver at 1903 West Nineteenth Avenue in the Shaughnessy Heights residential district, is shown in (3). In (4) Harry Stevens is seen clearing land on his farm at White Rock, B.C., in 1918. Between sessions in Ottawa, he spends much of his time on the farm, the secret, he claims, for his good health. Bonzo, pet of the Stevens' children for nine years, is seen in (5), while in (6) Harry Stevens and his son, Francis, now Rev. Francis Stevens, go hunting on their farm in the autumn of 1918. These photographs have been taken from the family album with the courtesy of Mrs. Stevens.
