CAN'T ALLOW KNOCKING

We have a very interesting letter from a reader dealing with a recent editorial and an indirect answer which appeared recently in this paper. Unfortunately the writer expresses his opinion of people personally much too freely for our columns. We do not care to be the medium through which to knock religious denominations or races. They all have their places in the scheme of things. What is good will survive and what is evil will disappear. If we express an editorial opinion it does not mean that we expect others to think as we do. One of the great features of modern Canadian life is the spirit of toleration that is found everywhere. We can agree to differ in many things but especially on questions of religion. If anyone has a message which will help the people, we are for it. We regret having to refuse publication to an interesting letter but we do not wish to stir up strife in the community, especially at a time when there is a movement afoot which looks like co-operation in essentials.

STRONG FOR ELECTION

There is a proposal afoot to bring on an immediate election next month and get the fight over and the political situation settled before the time for the visit of the Prime Minister to London in May. If Mr. Bennett is then re-elected he will represent Canada and, if some other party is in the ascendency, its leader would be the one to take part officially at the Jubilee and to sit in at the round table conference of British premiers. This would be most desirable. It would be useless for Canada to be represented by a man who may be defeated within a few weeks. Any imperial policy acquiesced in by Canada should have the support of the Parliament of Canada, the members of which are representatives of the people of Canada.

Another reason for desiring an early election is that the country may settle down once more. Until the election is over there will be more or less unrest. It is almost impossible to see things in their proper perspective when under the shadow of an election campaign. Political bias is so strong in the mass of the people that sane discussion is difficult. An election will clear the air and, if there is to be a change of political control, this is the time to have it.

Canadian Rides At Agua Caliente

Norman W. Church's great bay colt, Gallant Sir, gave the racing world a lesson in floating power as he swept, without urging, to a new track record of 2.02 3-5 for the mile and a-quarter in winning the $25,000 added Agua Caliente Handicap. The impression prevailed that, had any of the field of eight pressed the leisurely Gallant Sir in the stretch, he could have bettered the mark by a wider margin—despite his top weight of 124 pounds. Knowing his mount's power, George Woolf, clever Canadian jockey, waited until the last quarter to send Gallant Sir to the front and let him romp to his seventh straight victory, a full length ahead of Waylayer of the A. A. Baroni stable.

WHEN FOOD "REPEATS"

ACID IS USUALLY PRESENT

TAKE THIS

WITH some people the digestion of certain foods is difficult. More acid is formed than the stomach requires. This causes "repeats" or eructations. Sometimes these "risings" are extremely sour with acid. If neglected, over-acidity can lead to more serious result. Either omit the foods which "repeat", or neutralize the acid with Bisurated Magnesia. This will immediately give you relief and with no bad after-effects, for this preparation is harmless. 70H
