STAGE HIT ON SCREEN

Montgomery, Joan Crawford and Other Favorites In "No More Ladies" At Capitol

Co-starring Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery with a cast which also includes such popular screen players as Franchot Tone, Charlie Ruggles, Edna May Oliver and Gail Patrick, "No More Ladies," based on the stage hit of the same name, was shown at the Capitol Theatre here last night and will be repeated tonight. Replete with Drop in for Tea, Coffee, Sandwiches sparkling romantic comedy situais a sophisticated one with original; settings and plenty of fine gowns worn by Miss Crawford. The picture opens with a whirlwind romance between Miss Crawford as a light-hearted but level-headed society girl, and Montgomery an incorrigible heart-breaker, and maintains a rapid moving tempo until the final fade-out, the story being that of the problems which accumulate behind the glamorous exterior of a too-popular Park Avenue couple. Miss Oliver is a salty maiden aunt, Franchot Tone is the "other man," Charlie Ruggles is a mirth-provoking thorn in the side of organized society, and Miss Patrick is a night club singer.

"Mystery Woman," the other end of a double bill program, is a thrilling and colorful drama of the We cater to socials, clubs, life of a young and beautiful wo-Iman, out to clear her husband, a French army officer, wrongfully sentenced to Devil's Island. The title role is played by Mona Barrie and others in the cast include Gilpert Roland, John Halliday, Rod LaRoque, Mischa Auer and William Faversham.

Thanksgiving Bridge Party

An enjoyable bridge party, with fair-sized crowd in attendance, was held Thanksgiving night by Canadian Labor Defence League in the hall on Seventh Avenue East. Prize winners were: ladies' first, Hugh Ferguson; second, Mrs. E. Hillman; men's first, Albert Carlson; second, R. Mc-Carthy. After cards, refreshments were served. Mrs. White and Mrs. Gomez comprised the committee in charge.

L. W. Patmore, who became tied up by the railway trouble at Smithers while visiting there on legal duties, has left the interior town to return home by way of Jasper Park and Vancouver.
