ROYAL BABY CHRISTENED WITH WATER FROM JORDAN RIVER

The recent christening of the first-born son of the Duke and Duchess of Kent, made possible the snapping of this informal picture of the family riding to Buckingham Palace for the baptismal rites. The Duke and Duchess of Kent are pictured in car with their baby, who is being held by a nurse. The child was named Edward George Nicholas Paul Patrick Windsor.

WHEAT SALE IS REMEDY

Economics Professor Says Surplus Should be Disposed of Now

OTTAWA. Dec. 20:-In order to keep the price from advancing unduly and unsettling the market, the Dominion Wheat Board is selling wheat freely and Canada's surplus is continuing to move out nicely under the influence of the strengthened market.

tems, says John T. Culliton, assis- ped dead in a chair. tant professor of economics at Mc-Gill University here.

Immediate sale of the western wheat surplus, even at a loss, was the sole remedy to the pressing problems facing the Canadian people, Prof. Culliton told a meeting of the General Accountants' Association.

Mr. Culliton said the immense importance of wheat was seen in the fact that the average value of the annual crop was $400,000,000. It was the country's greatest single export and paid for numerous imports such as tea, coffee, cocoa, sugar, oranges and bananas.

With the United States out of For Dividends' the export market and the crops of Australia and the Argentine below normal, the time had come for Canada to dispose of her surplus, Mr. Culliton said.

Mr. Culliton expressed the opinion that, as Europe was producing all it could ever produce, the Dominion could look forward to a reduction in wheat tariffs. The interas a competitive market and demands for reduction in wheat acreage as a solution would prove useless. It should be handled as a private enterprise, he said.

Many obstacles had been overcome in making Canada's system of grading the standard of the world. Canada's wheat was marketed with less cost and more effectively than that of any of its competitors.

TEACHERS

Commissioner Alder Defends Recent Appointment and Urges Athletics to Save Boys

"There has been a hue and cry of late about my appointment of teachers in the schools. All things being equal, any local job should go to a local man or woman, but when I want a man teacher, a girl will not fill the bill," declared W. J. Alder, city commissioner, at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club in the Commodore Cafe yesterday in the course of an address on civic affairs.

"The facts are that our schools are all doing excellent work in the classrooms. I have no adverse criticism to make in that particular but the time has come when more men in the higher grades of the elementary schools are a necessity. Of three appointments to the high school this year, two were men and the one lady was for home econo-

We have in this city a number of underprivileged boys whose homes have broken down," continued the commissioner. "Seven are now in the industrial school for two years, at a cost of $24 each per month, and the police have a long list of delinquents on their books.

"In the appointment of these men teachers, athletics are stressed and aside from the matter of discipline, I think that the playing field is a wonderful place to build character. I have in mind the necessity for enough men teachers in the schools so that every boy can eventually be drawn into the games."
