LONDON USING IRON NON-SKID ROADS

That section of Upper Street in Islington Borough, London, whereon corrugated iron street paving is being tested, is pictured. The corrugations, designed much after the style of the familiar auto tire treads, are expected to reduce skidding to the ultimate minimum, and London traffic authorities are expectant in the matter of the wearing quality of the road. They believe that in this case, surely, the familiar guarantee to "wear like iron" will

Vancouver Machine Crashes Into Sea as Result and Pilot And His Companion Have Narrow Escape

VANCOUVER, Nov. 5: (CP)-A mallard duck, heeding winter's warning and winging its way southward off Point Grey late yesterday afternoon, crashed into an open flying boat of the Royal Canadian Air Force and, as a result, the machine was forced into the water with its two occupants. Sergeant N. E. Small, pilot, suffered cuts about the face and a broken leg. His companion, Aircraftsman H. P. Whelan, escaped with minor injuries in the plunge of two hundred feet of the machine to the water. Small's face was badly battered by a blow from the duck, forcing him to lose control of the machine.

The men were picked up by a fishing boat.

Pivotal Point Falls In Offensive From North in Ethiopia

Advances in All Directions Claimed by Rome—Sir Samuel Hoare Expresses Himself as Well Pleased With Peace Negotiations

ROME, Nov. 5:-Makale, pivotal point in the Italian advance into Ethiopia from the north, surrendered last night before the main body of the invading army, coming through the muddy mountain passes in three divisions, had arrived. There was no large scale opposition on the part of the defenders although it was admitted by the Italians that they had suffered quite a few losses through sniping and ambush tactics. Several vil- DON JUAN lages were captured as the Italians moved on toward Makale. The civilian population of Makale hoisted white flags as the advance guards of the Italians arrived on the

In spite of the easy fall of Makale, there is a general expectation that a fierce battle may be pending south of Makale. Ethiopian forces were reported to be concentrating in readiness to strike.

The Italian army on the northern front halted its advance today because of rain and the need of building supply roads up to the present front.

An official communique issued here last night stated that Dolo in of ex-King Alfonso of Spain and Italian drive from Somaliland to- that country. Another Rome report asserted that thousands of Ethiopian soldiers, due to the defection of one of Emperor Haile Selassie's principal chiefs, were deserting and going over to the Italian side.

Official denial was given here to reports yesterday that there had been a heavy toll of Ethiopian women and children as a result of aerial bombing.

Italian planes were reported today to have bombed and destroyed a munitions caravan enroute from British Somaliland to Harar, killing arms, munitions and petroleum.

Ban on Fuel and Metals

GENEVA, Nov. 5:-The League of Nations committee on penalties yesterday approved a sweeping ban + TIME OF DAILY NEWS on supply of fuel and metals to Italy, including coal, oil, iron and steel, but it was considered unlikely that this would be put into effect unless there was general cooperation from such nations as have not already subscribed to the League's sanction program.

An announcement yesterday by the U.S. State Department that that country would act on is own initative in connection with the supplying of war materials to belligerent nations and not in cooperation with other countries was not encouraging to the League.
