CO-OPERATION IS THEME

Co-operation between the railway company and the city to, vs. George Cripps, Legion. (Agof Prince Rupert was the theme at the informal little lun-gregate score to date: Grotto, 1186; cheon yesterday given by the executive of the Chamber of Canadian Legion, 1021.) Commerce to A. E. Warren and B. T. Chappell, high officials of the railway company. All speakers agreed that in drews, Elks. (Aggregate score to order to bring best results there must be a spirit of help- date: Canadian Legion, 1155; Elks, falness on both sides. The fortunes of the city and the rail- 1225.) way company are closely linked one with the other. If one is successful it follows that the other must be. Support of the railway by citizens is just as necessary as is an effort to accommodate the public by the railway company.

A NEW ERA

Railways no longer have a monopoly of the carrying pusiness and for that reason alone it becomes necessary that they shall take every means of catering to the public. The advent of the motor car and truck has played havoc with railway business in some areas. The airplanes will in the near future be also a big factor in transportation. To meet this competition will undoubtedly be the aim of the ailways and to correlate it should be the duty of the statesman. We cannot afford to lose our railways but we also want our motor cars and our airplanes. This is the era of change which necessitates in all lines of business adaptation to rapidly changing conditions. The organization that is not ready to adapt itself is very quickly eliminated from the picture.

RECIPROCITY AGAIN

Once more we are told that we are about to have a reciprocity ararngement with the United States. We were told so over twenty years ago but at that time the people who are now arranging this pact got out with a Union Jack in both hands and waved the flags with such effect that the Canadian people took fright and turned down the proposal as well as the government that advocated it. I was the last fight of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier and though it was a losing fight at that time victory seems likely to come now by the conversion of his political enemies to his policy.
