DRAGON-LAND IN POLICE COURT

Picturesque Case This Morning Over the Gambling Raid Saturday. All Kinds of Orientals and Quaint Gambling Display.

Dozens of Orientals filled the police court this morning when the Chinese gambling case came up for trial. King Tai was there beside L. W. Patmore who appears for the Orientals.

All the golden, red, black and white spotted, and silver appurtenances of a Chinese gambling table littered the police court table. After Constables Swasey and McArthur had described the raid of King Tai's premises, and the hurried grabbing up of coins, and scuttling of Chinamen in all directions an Oriental named Hong described the game of fan tan, and picked out at least ten of his countrymen in the crowd whom he declared had been gambling.

Should City Pay Hospital Fees for George Parks?

A letter from George Parks, the workman who was injured by a falling rock on retaining wall construction, was read at the council last night. This workman while not demanding compensation exactly find that as he was only laid up for about two weeks the regular workman's insurance does not apply sufficiently liberally to cover the expense of his spell in hospital. He requests that the city bear this for him as the injury was caused in regular city work through no fault of his own. Referred to the finance committee.
