HOME GAS DISPLAY

One of Interesting Booths at Silver Jubilee Carnival in Exhibition Building

The display of Home Gas products and equipment at the Silver Jubilee Carnival at the Exhibition Building is one of the interesting booths at the show which is causing considerable comment among car and boat operators.

In addition to a straight display of company products such as gasoline, kerosene and grease, there have been arranged various novel devices such as one for making distillation tests; a calorimeter, used to determine heat units; Westphal balance, to determine density of fluids; penetrometer, to indicate consistency of lubricating greases; colorimeter, to determine color of lubricating greases; and viscometer to determine fluidity of oils at given temperatures.

At the rear of the booth is a clever miniature stage arrangement showing the Home Gas Optimists, the company's popular group of radio entertainers
