UNFORTUNATE LEADERS

The workingmen of Canada are often unfortunate in their leaders. Take as an example the delegation that visited Ottawa last week to lay the case of the relief workers before the government. Evidently Evans was very discourteous to Mr. Bennett and little success could be expected. We have much sympathy with the leade who tried to get to Ottawa to lay their case before the government but they were not in a position to make demands and insult the Prime Minister. Such action is greatly to be deprecated. A different attitude on the part of the leaders might have brought different results.

TAKES UP CUDGELS

In a statement broadcasted through the press Premier Pattullo lays British Columbia's case before the people of Canada and asks for better treatment. The Premier asks that the relationship between the province and the federal authority should be readjusted. He shows that while B. C. has paid into the federal treasury through customs receipts $347,000,000 she has been returned in subsidies only $27,000,000. A refunding is asked and the taking over of the P. G. E. and its incorporation into the C. N. R. system.

A regional tariff or in lieu thereof monetary compensation is included in the claims and a permanent policy in regard to unemployment relief, which it is claimed is primarily a federal problem.

Finally the provincial Premier asks for needed public works and suggests that preserving the manhood of the country is more important than money.

STEVENS IN OPPOSITION

The fact of a member voting against his own party is not important but when it comes to a man who, until recently was a member of the cabinet and who is spoken of as a possible Conservative leader, it is very significant when he votes against his party in the House of Commons. The action of Mr. Stevens recorded at the week-end is the first actual break. Prior to that there had been only talk. The former minister of trade and commerce openly opposed his leader in the House and it would seem that he should now be sitting on the opposition benches instead of continuing as a supporter of the party with which he was formerly associated.

SPORT CHAT

A job is more important to Mickey McGlashen than a trip to the Olympic Games. He has decided to move to Edmunston, N.B., where a position awaits him, if nothing turns up here. Should he move he would lose his chance of going with Halifax Wolverines, Allan Cup hockey champions, to Germany next winter.

Steve Donoghue may be a veteran but the famous jockey rode in three countries in 40 hours recently and travelled nearly 700 miles. He rode at Gatwick on Saturday, in Belgium the following day and on Monday morning figured in early morning training gallops in Paris. That afternoon he was back in England.

Alan Wakeman, 14-year old Walsall schoolboy international, has signed amateur forms for Aston Villa. He weighs 168 pounds and stands five feet, eight inches. He can play either in goal or at centre-forward.

They say around the race tracks that Butch Keeling should be coupled with every horse he enters. When one of the Keeling horses thunders down the stretch ahead the New York Ranger hockey player picks up the pact at the 16th pole in his excitement. They say he has beaten many of his winners home.

Jimmy Thomson of Long Beach Calif., one of golf's longest hitters, is going to Niagara Falls for the $5,000 open tournament at the Lookout Point Club, starting July 11. Second to Sam Parks in the U. S. open this month Thomson at last has found a place close to the top.

The annual Canadian Legion picnic to Digby Island yesterday was another notable success and though the weather looked uncertain in the morning it turned out bright and warm in the afternoon and a big crowd thoroughly enjoyed the outing.

The Boys' Band under Bandmaster Bob Greenfield added to the enjoyment by their musical numbers.

A full program of sports was run off. The highlights of these were the men's tug-of-war, the first pull of which lasted twelve minutes, and the ladies' tug-of-war which was also very keenly fought out.
