ANOTHER RECONSTRUCTION

Hon. H. H. Stevens is asking for the support of the people on a so-called reconstruction program. Not to be outdone by his arch-enemy, Premier Bennett is going to bring about actual reconstruction before the election. He is about to reconstruct his cabinet. Such reconstruction is made necessary by the large number of gaps caused by retiring members.

After the reconstruction of the Conservative cabinet it should be almost new so many have been the defections of late. Possibly the new line-up will inspire greater confidence in the people than did the old one. At any rate it will be better than the proposed reconstruction outfit of the former minister of trade and commerce.

DANGEROUS HEIGHT

Having extreme wealth is dangerous to the recipients of the wealth. A person with a salary of $25,000 is likely to go places and do things that would never be even dreamt of by the ordinary person. A person with that salary is bound to increase his living expenses until his tastes become such that a reduction of salary later is a hardship.

The moral of all this is that the man with the salary of a couple of thousand dollars a year is the happy man, if he can keep it up. Or possibly the happiest is the thousand a year man. We have met men who are on relief who seemed to be much happier than people with considerable wealth. Possibly it is the contented mind that is the seat of real happiness.

THE ABYSSINIAN FLURRY

The world was gradually getting itself worked up over the Abyssinian question until it reached a point where Premier Mussolini has thought it wise to withdraw his "nothing but war" stand. There is really nothing to fight about except that Italy is anxious for expansion and if that begins, conflict is bound to follow among the nations. The only thing is it seems hardly fair to prevent Italy from wiping out an inferior people when Japan was allowed full sway in Manchuria.

If the present dispute is submitted to arbitration it will be a great victory for the new peace movement. It seems only a few years ago that Britain was about to engage in a similar expedition in Venezuela. The United States, as the protector of all nations in this hemisphere issued an ultimatum through President Cleveland that so far Britain could go and no farther. There must be no conquest or annexation of Venezuela. War was in the air. . The United States was aflame with the spirit of conflict, but Britain withdrew and all was peace in a few minutes. So it seems likely there will be peace in Africa.
