FEW MAKE BIG FUSS

A few people can make a big fuss over very little especially when they want to make or save money by doing so. That has been proven many times in the past and is still quite evident. Take as an example the mining securities legislation of the present government. The law was passed in an attempt to protect people who put their money into mining ventures. Pretty soon when some promoters found it difficult to promote mining companies without conforming to the new regulations there was a roar and a demand was made that the law should be set aside as being inimical to the best interests of the mining industry.

The mining committee went into the whole question and decided that the law should remain on the statute books as a protection for innocent investors.

THE ABYSSINIAN WAR

While there seems no doubt that Italy has been crushing her way into Abyssinia and has taken some of the centres of population classed as towns which are really collections of mud huts, there seems to be considerable doubt if they will make sufficient headway before the rainy season sets in to enable them to force their will on the country.

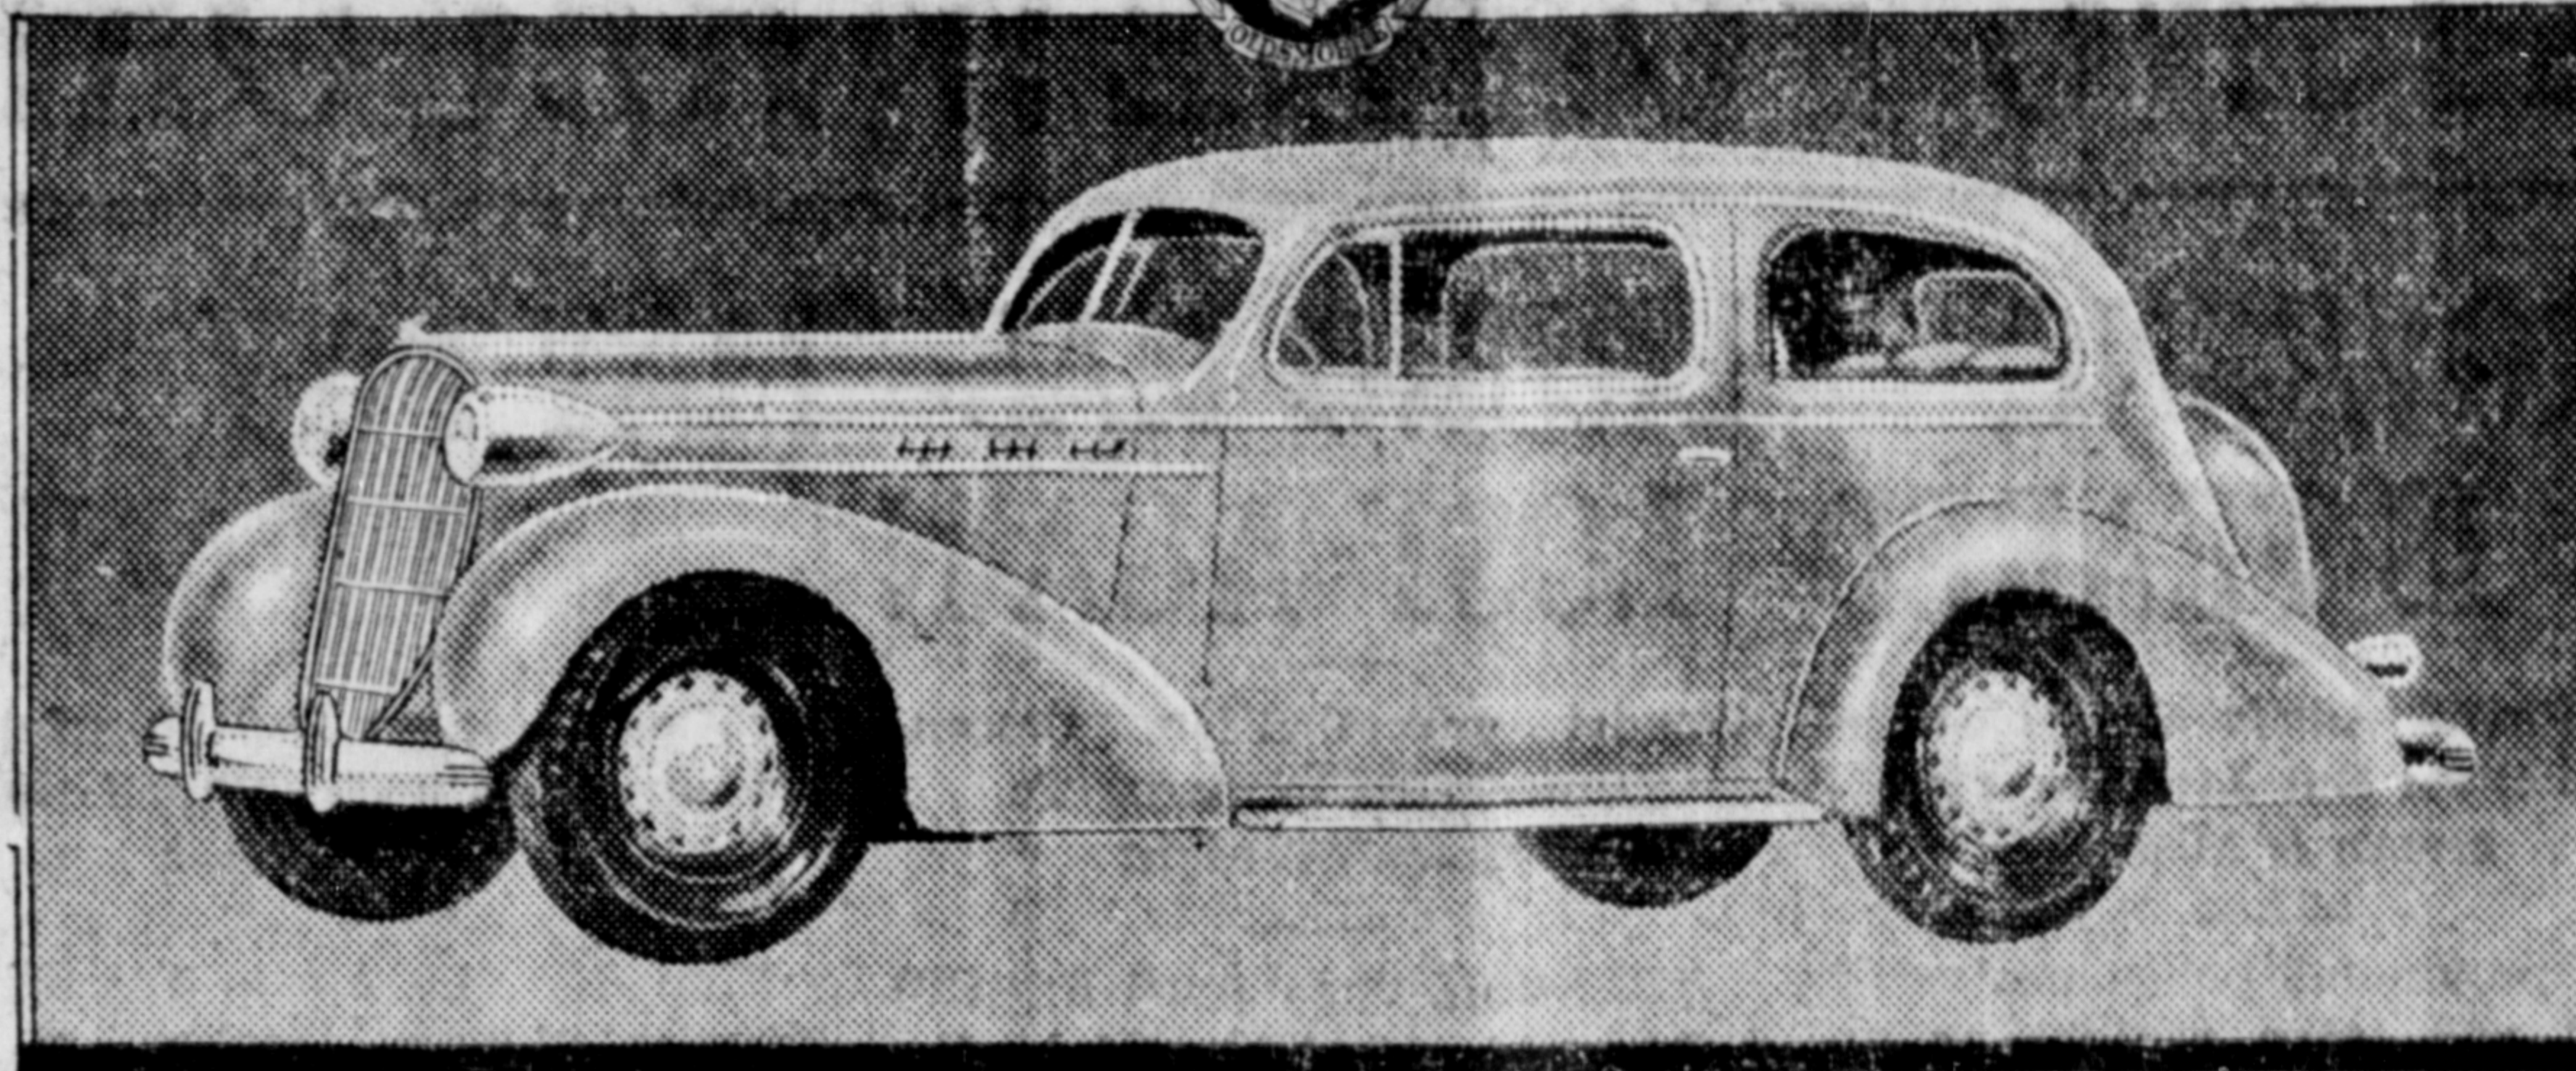

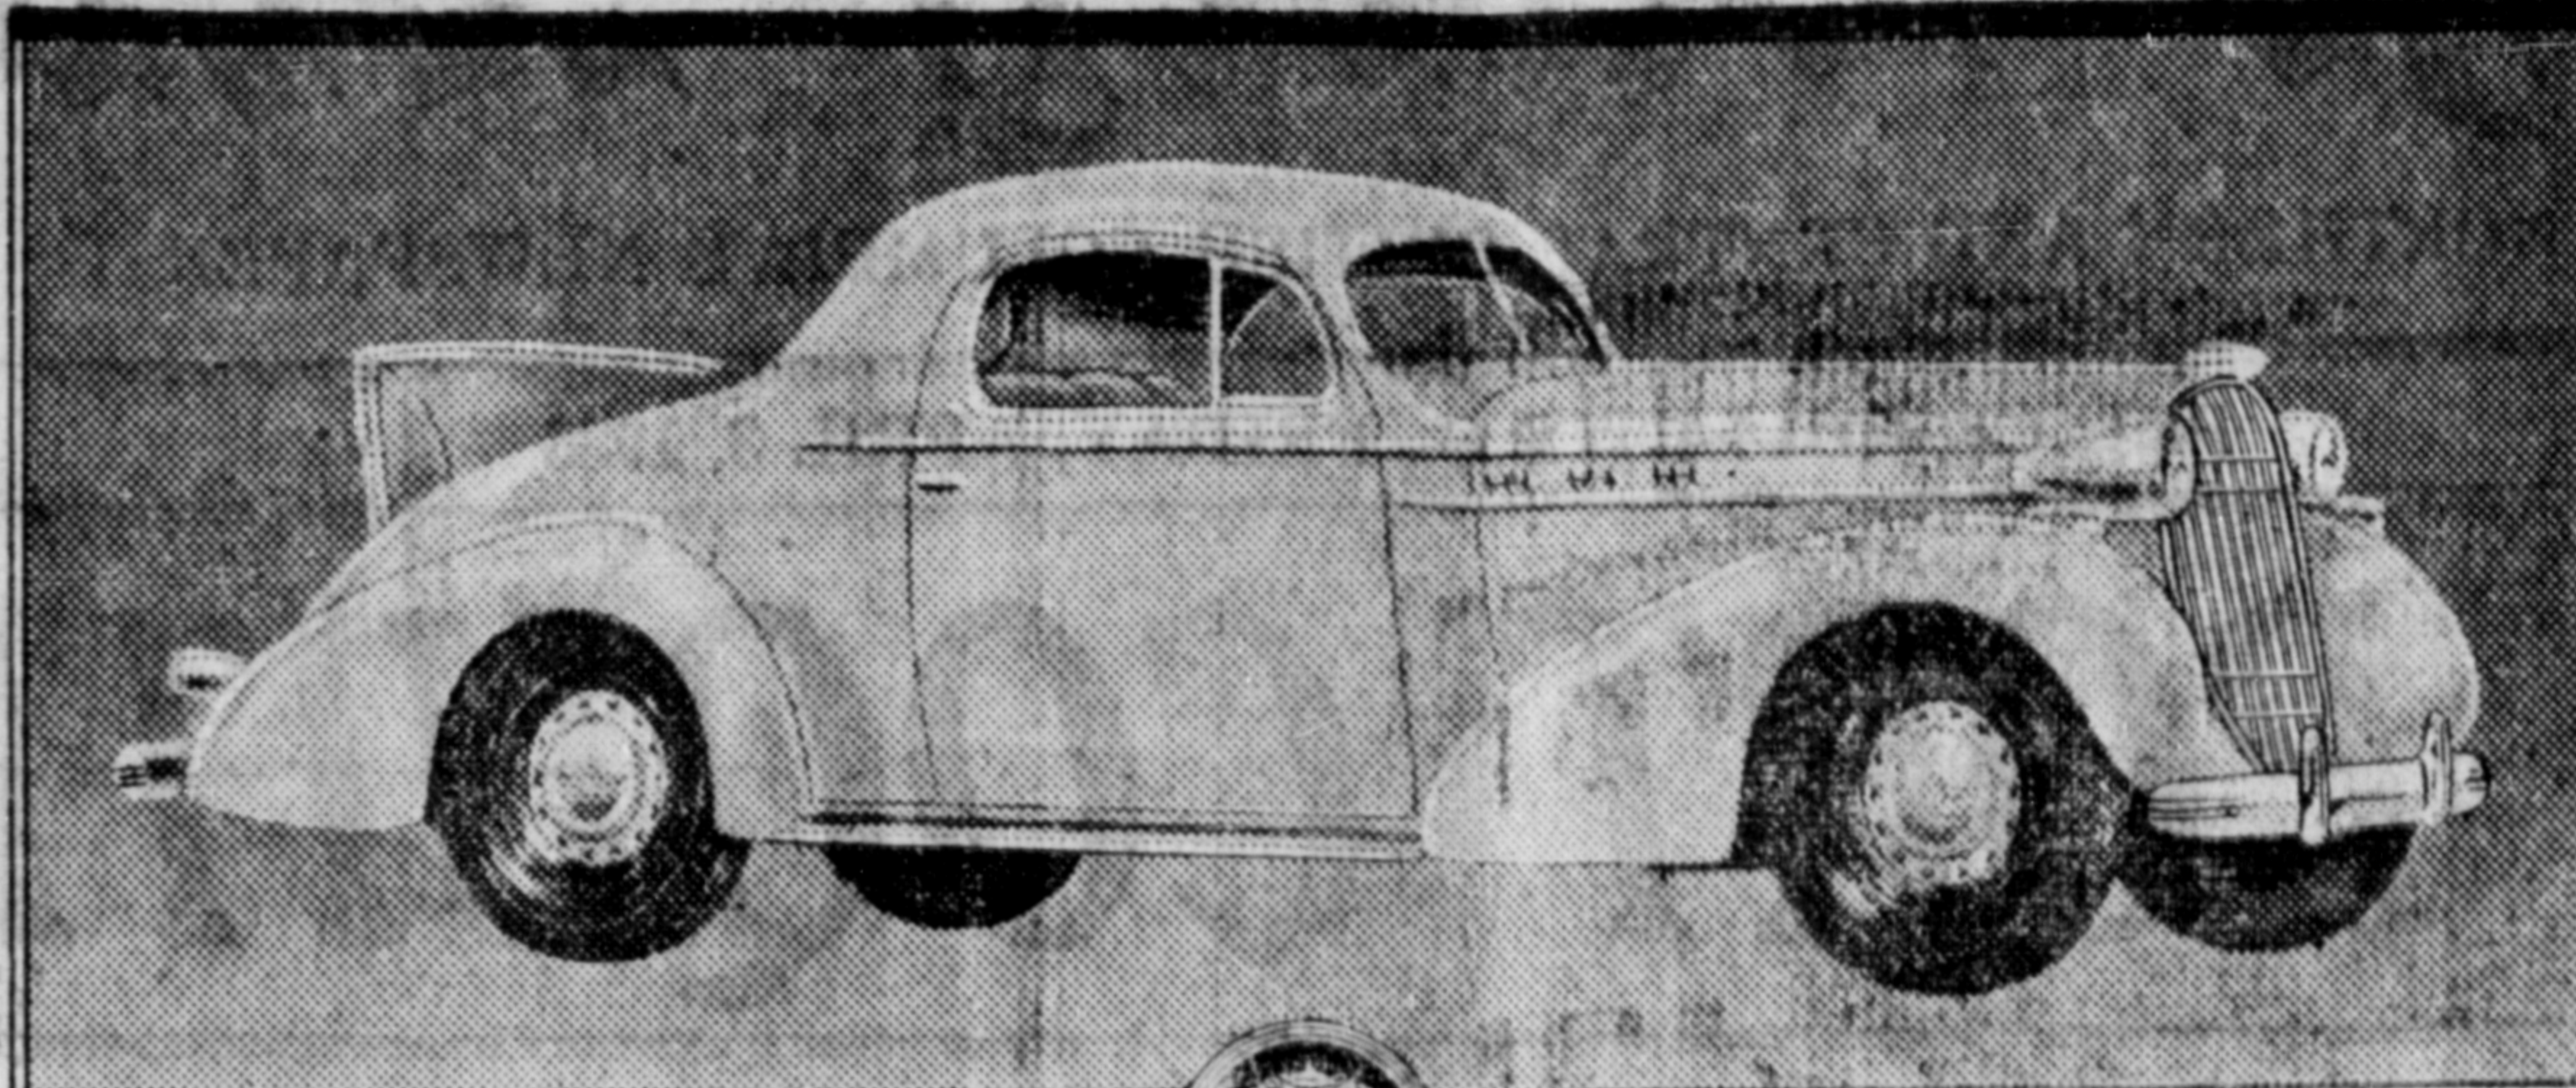

Abyssinia is said to be a terrible country for white people during the rainy season, which lasts for a number of months. The country is in the summer alive with insects and reptiles and life there is not impossible but very difficult. Camps have to be constructed in such a way as to provide for all the disabilities of the season. The probability is that the Ethiopians are looking forward with great hope to the time when their enemies are handicapped by the weather and will be unable to advance any farther and may even have to retire.

If the Italians can force the fighting to such a point as to compel the Ethiopians to surrender or to sign a treaty before the rainy season comes, they will probably be glad to be rid of an unpleasant duty.

1936 Oldsmobiles Have Many Refinements

SCORES OF IMPROVEMENTS ENGINEERED INTO SIXES AND EIGHTS

Oldsmobile for 1936 retains a strong hold on style leadership with the new models just announced. Above, the eight-cylinder rumble-seat coupe, well illustrating the new front-end effect attained by the rounded radiator grille, high-mounted headlamps, and louvre treatment. Below, the six-cylinder coach with trunk. Many new refinements of motor, body, and chassis, have been built into the 1936 Oldsmobiles.

CHAPTER OF PIONEERING

Notables Were Present When Cornerstone of Fredericton Railway Bridge Was Laid

FREDERICTON, April 3: (CP)—With the destruction of the Canadian National Railways nine-span bridge across the St. John River by ice this spring, another chapter of rugged pioneering by a colorful New Brunswick figure was closed.

Had it not been for Alexander Gibson, York county's industrial pioneer, the bridge might never have been built. It was he, who with Senator Thomas Temple, built the structure to carry the trains of the Northern and Western Railway into Fredericton. Senator J. B. Snowball and Alexander Gibson were partners in the railway company and, while the road was under construction, Gibson entered into partnership with Senator Temple in building the bridge.

The cornerstone was laid June 20, 1887, in the presence of such notables as Sir John A. Macdonald, Lady Macdonald, Sir Leonard Tilley, then Lieutenant-governor of New Brunswick, Lady Tilley and others. Lady Macdonald laid the cornerstone.

In 1904 the railway from South Devon to Loggieville, 124 miles, became part of the Intercolonial system. The following year the bridge was turned over to the Canadian government.

At the laying of the cornerstone Senator Temple was called upon to make the important speech of the occasion. As the story goes, the Senator, who seemed to be able to see plainly the human side of things, faced the huge gathering for a moment, then turned to the workmen and shouted: "All right boys, let 'er plunk," and sat down.

Hurd Belyea, who is still living in Fredericton, was one of the firemen on the two locomotives and five cars of rails used as a test train when the bridge was opened.

SYDNEY HARBOR THRIVES

SYDNEY, N. S. W., April 3: (CP)—Sydney's world-famous harbor berthed more shipping last year than at any time in its history. Official figures disclose last year's tonnage totalled 17,536,164, comprising 6,855 ships. The previous record of 1927 was exceeded by more than 1,000,000 tons. The harbor is now claimed to be the busiest in the southern hemisphere.

Former Manager Of Shoes Requested Local Royal Bank Moving to Regina

A. W. Cameron, who was manager of the Prince Rupert branch of the Royal Bank of Canada from 1918 until 1921, has been transferred from Moose Jaw, where he has been manager for the past eleven years, to Regina as manager. Mr. Cameron left Prince Rupert in 1921 to become assistant manager at Vancouver and from there went to Calgary as manager where he remained for a year until moving to Moose Jaw. Mr. Cameron was vice-president of the Moose Jaw Board of Trade this year.

Tired Feet Will Get Rest With Two Weeks in Jail

REGINA, April 3: (CP)—A Somphoan, giant negro, said in police court the charge of begging lodged against him was due to his need of a pair of shoes, size 11, to ease his aching feet. "Ah'm at de mercy of yo' all," he said. "I gotta have shoes," at's all. The magistrate decided Somphoan's sore feet needed a rest, and he will spend two weeks in jail.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

April 3, 1911

Twenty-four beds have arrived from Birmingham, England, for installation in the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

A special excursion is to be run next week-end by the steamer Prince George to Stewart, leaving Sunday morning and returning Monday.

Indicating Prince Rupert's growth, an increase in customs receipts for the Port of Prince Rupert is announced. The total revenue for this March was $5,844.41 as compared with $5,606.52 in the same month last year. (The revenue for this March was $5,205.60.)

Snakes and Cats Rout Island Rats

Sydney, Australia, Rids Itself Of Rodents—Reptiles Also Gone

SYDNEY, N.S.W., April 3: (CP)—Shipping officials, worried over the depredations of rats in the store-houses and wharves on Thursday Island, near Cape York, hit on the plan of freeing dozens of domestic cats on the island.

The cats performed yeoman service in ridding the island of the rodents but were not in sufficient numbers to combat natural increase of the pests.

Two large carpet snakes, deadly enemies of rats, were procured and placed in the rafters of the store-house. The reptiles sleep by day and work by night. After a week's trial the island manager reported the rats had entirely disappeared—but so had the snakes. Only the cats are left. Fate of the snakes is a matter of conjecture.

BOYS POISON WATER

DELIA, Alta., April 3: (CP)—Two boys who dropped pieces of carbide in the town water-tank caused fears of ptomaine poisoning after many residents complained of stomach pains. Police investigated and the boys confessed.
