B. E. Bailey, bio-chemist of the "Mr. Hobo" and Ross Alexander sults. Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, was the speaker at a luncheon in the Hotel Georgia in Vancouver on Tuesday of this week. Mr. Bailey told of the work of government fisheries scientists declaring they were technologists rather than biologists. He outlined their accomplishments in developing or discovering use for former fish wastes.

Delayed again by heavy freights for cannery points on the way up has her calls in the Skeena River siar, Oceanic and Inverness, among them C. E. Salter, manager of Haysport, and A. P. Matheson, manager of Carlisle and Mrs. Matheson.

More Canneries to Pack

Twenty-seven salmon canneries, two more than last year, will be in operation in Prince Rupert district this season, a preliminary survey shows. The operation of three canneries in Massett Inlet. which were idle last year, more than makes up for Oceanic Cannery on the Skeena River which was destroyed by fire last fall and will not operate this season.

The list of canneries which it is expected will operate this year is as follows:

Naas River-Arrandale, Mill Bay, Wales Island.

Skeena River-Inverness, North Pacific, Sunnyside. Cassiar, Claxton, Haysport. Central Area-Butedale, Klemtu.

Bella Coola—Tallheo and Bella

Rivers Inlet-Provincial, Beaver,

Goose Bay, Wadhams, Kildala, Good Hope. Smith's Inlet-Margaret Bay,

Boswell. Queen Charlotte Islands-Old

Massett, New Massett, Shannon! Bay, Lagoon Bay.

The packing season will get fully under way on the mainland on July 1 with the opening of sockeye fishing. In view of the indifferent market for springs, there is expected; to be little, if any, activity in early! packing of that variety.

Gill netting for springs started on the Naas River during the past week. The fish are being brought into Prince Rupert for the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. and the Canadian Fishing Co. The run is reported to be fairly good.
