not affect the Prince Rupert district. A similar system, Concords, basket it has been suggested, might be used in some of the co industries, but this has been rejected as unsuitable. Se ing men to work the placer mines of the north has alrea proven feasible for a number of single men and possi forestry camps might be a success. A big road buildi scheme to keep the men working during the wint months would be more feasible if it were not so cost Considering the value of the work to the country, possi the road building plan would be the cheapest in the e It would not be pleasant work and during the days wh rains were heavy would have to cease, but a good deal the time work could continue. The construction would more costly than if the same work were done in the su mer but it would serve a much more useful purpose. great thing just now is the willingness of the federal g ernment to interest itself in some reasonable scheme. H G. S. Pearson of Victoria and his department of labor working on plans just now in collaboration with fede authorities and it is hoped that they will find some eff tive way of handling the situation.

SOLVING CHINA'S PROBLEMS

The great problem in governing China at the pres time is to educate the Chinese people and keep them perly posted on current events so that they may be pared to act as a unit in solving national problems. most countries this can be done by means of newspap but in that country newspapers do not reach more t a fraction of the population. The pressure of Japan causing the Chinese to strain every nerve in arming country and preparing the inhabitants to resist invas The Nanking government is distributing radio receiv sets throughout the towns and villages and is broadc ing to them in various Chinese dialects. These receiv sets are often put up in public places and crowds gat around to listen to what the Nanking government ha say to them. This is passed on from one person to anot and discussed so that the people are being educated nationalism and given a smattering of world news entertainment. The example of Russia is being follo in this respect but along broader lines. The Chinese pe are being treated as intelligent human beings.
