THE EUROPEAN SITUATION

Almost every day brings some new development in the troubled European situation. Every day there seems some new cause for alarm.

Russia, for some time regarded on the side of the peace-makers, is now taking an obstinate stand in opposition to outside help to the Fascist rebels in the Spanish civil war. She, herself, is accused of helping the loyalist cause in that bloody conflict.

The task which Great Britain and France seem to have undertaken to keep in hand a delicate situation, is a difficult one. The world watches and hopes that it may be possible to maintain a balance between the extremists and prevent a major eruption. The political aspect seems to be overshadowing the international phase which makes the whole situation the more difficult.

FOUNDATIONS OF PROSPERITY

"My considered view now is that Canada is seeing the end of the lean years," writes Colin Brooks, financial editor of the Sunday Dispatch of London, England, following a recent coast-to-coast trip across Canada. Increasing value of timber products, mining and tourist business offer three great forces for prosperity in Canada, Mr. Brooks believes. This is of interest to Prince Rupert which is vitally concerned with all three industries if they may be termed such.

"This is the cellulose age," writes Mr. Brooks in a special article for the Financial Post. "After the iron age, the steel age, the concrete age, the age of timber has returned. Canada's wealth of timber will again pour prosperity into the lap of the Dominion. The consumption of rayon pulp is growing at a surprising pace. Staple fibre is beginning a spectacular career.

"With the recovery in newsprint and new demands on timber for other uses, the timber interests must flourish. With a timber recovery in sight, Quebec and Ontario must feel immediately happier and British Columbia is surely expectant of better times.

"During my trip I have met hopeful men and I have met worried men but I have not met one timid man or one frightened man. In all places and among all grades—and my talks have been wide-ranging from bank presidents to train bumpers—I have found a terrific faith in Canada's future. Canada's full recovery is nearer than many Canadians will permit themselves to think.

"Timber and gold are stout foundations for prosperity whatever may be the immediate depression in the wheat lands. It is unthinkable that temporary political or economic manias or some natural flaws in a still developing political system can much impair or long impede that prosperity."

GREAT WAR IS NOW ON

had got him interested in British-Israelism but cold reasoning and commonsense. His son had brought him the book "God's Commonwealth of Nations" and, through studying it, he had found it checked with the prophecies of the Bible. He had become convinced that "we were Israel and the recipients of God's material promises." He had accepted Christ as a personal savior and the belief that "Christ can save us nationally and individually."

The Latter Days

Today, Col. Wright declared, the world was living in the times of the last of the prophetic utterances. It was a troublous yet a most wonderful era in the world's history. The actual fighting of the Great War had ended in 1918 but since that time there had been an economic war in progress. Things were occurring today that had been predicted by the prophets of old as recorded in the Book given by God for the guidance of mankind down through the ages. Out of these chaotic times, when religion and economics were upside down, when there was preaching against religion, when the poor were being robbed to make the rich more wealthy, British-Israelism was becoming more and more recognized and accepted. The Bible had said that Israel would spread and it was spreading. The only peaceful countries today were those of Israelite descent, the chosen people of God. The British Commonwealth of Nations as it was known today had been predicted by God.

Before the destiny of Israel could be filled, however, it was necessary to get back to the simple and common law of God as given to Moses on Mount Sinai and away from the present complicated legal structure. Politicians could agitate as they might but never would there be a return to prosperity unless and until God's law was restored to Israel. "If we appeal to God He will show us the way out. We must defend our nation until God's son comes to take it over. God bids Israel to arm and fight in His just cause. If we are prepared we can win the next war without firing a shot or losing a man."

The meeting was presided over by Rev. Dr. F. W. Dafeo, pastor of First Baptist Church, who offered opening prayer. John E. Davey presided at the organ and the benediction was pronounced by Very Rev. James B. Gibson, dean of St. Andrew's Cathedral.
