ORCHESTRA PROGRESSS
The Philharmonic Junior Orchestra, under the joint direction of A. C. Cameron and Dr. H. N. Brocklesby, at the Philharmonic Society recital Sunday night, showed further marked progress since it was last heard in public. Its selections were from "Chu Chin Chow" (Norton), "Minuet in G." (Paderewski) and "Hungarian Dance No. 5" (Brahms).
The two-piano duet of Grieg's "Concerto in A. Minor" by Miss Balagno and her father was possibly the most ambitious instrumental undertaking of its kind ever essayed by local talent and it was rendered in a manner which left nothing to be desired. It was an outstanding treat. Technique and execution were excellent indeed.
"Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" (Coleridge Taylor), was presented by the choir last season and was so widely acclaimed that it was decided to repeat it. It was rendered in fine manner and was also much appreciated. J. E. Davey was soloist. "Greeting to Spring" (Strauss) and "Morning" (Speaks-Baldwin) were the other two choral items.

Charles P. Balagno was, as usual, a capable accompanist.
W. H. Tobey and William Cruickshank presided at the door and Phillip Edgecombe and Ian Fraser were ushers.
