Samuel Leibowitz Not Satisfied With Hauptmann's Explanation And Believes Him Guilty

TRENTON, N.J., Feb. 20: (CP) -Samuel K. Leibowitz, eminent New York criminal lawyer, who bergh case several days ago with ALCOHOL the avowed intention of getting Bruno Richard Hauptmann "to tell the truth," withdrew last night.

While a statement by Leibowitz indicated that he strongly believed Hauptmann to be guilty of the kidnap-murder of Charles Augustus Lindbergh jr., Leibowitz would not say that he was withdrawing from the case because of such belief. He told of a long conversation in the death cell with Hauptmann in the course of which the former Bronx carpenter, now sentenced to die the week of March 30, refused to admit his guilt or to tell further particulars of how he came into possession of the ransom money.

Sanctions Compel Italy to Make Many Things Once Imported

ROME, Feb. 20: (CP)—Mussolini is utilizing sanctions to alter Italy's industrial system and to improve her foreign trade.

He is making a virtue of necessity. If sanctions had not been applied, he said, he would have had to find another means of doing the same thing.

Italy for generations has bought abroad more than she sold. Tour-Had he planned the kidnap- lists and remittances from millions ping, Hauptmann told Leibowitz of Italians abroad furnished forhe would have worked through eign exchange to balance the acthe women of the household to count. Il Duce long ago sought to obtain the child. Theorizing make Italy self-supporting but he Hauptmann expressed the belief was balked by lack of raw materials. His solution was expansion into a colonial empire which brought the present conflict with the League of Nations.

When 52 countries laid economic Leibowitz intimated that he siege to Italy Mussolini adopted a two-point program:

1.—Compel Italian manufacturers with the whole field to themselves to make things previously imported and to improve their products so they may better compete

2.—Increase trade with friendly countries and make even-exchange commercial accords with the others. Oil is the big problem. Italy imports about 2,200,000 tons. About one-tenth of this is expected from VICTORIA, Feb. 20 (CP)-The the 90 wells in the Albanian Ku-
